THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

Hood Repulsed in His Attack on Columbia.

A Small Portion of the Rebel Cavalry Cross Duck River.

Johnsonville Not Evacuated by Our Forces.

Possible Co-operation of Hood and Breckinridge.

NASHVILLE, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

Nothing has been heard from Hood's army on our front since yesterday evening, the telegraph wires being down.

Hood made an assault on our works at Columbia, south of Duck River, on Saturday, and was badly repulsed.

A small portion of the rebel cavalry have succeeded in crossing Duck River.

Hood has made other developments of his plans, but thus far he has accomplished nothing further than conscripting some of his "dear friends."

There is no foundation for the rumor of the evacuation of Johnsonville, except a proper preparation for possible contingencies.

The military situation is satisfactory to the authorities.

The impression gains ground that Hood will move east, across the Chattanooga, possibly with the hope of accomplishing something by cooperating with Breckinridge.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON.

Theory of Hood's Present Movement—Possible Attempt to Restore Rebel Railroad Communications through East Tennessee.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

Hood's movements in Tennessee seem to reveal the intention of making his way into East Tennessee. The line on which he is moving would indicate an attempt to turn Nashville on the east side and make his way to form a junction with Breckinridge. It is believed that he will then essay the capture of Knoxville, which will give him railroad communication by way of the East Tennessee and Virginia valley with Lynchburgh and Richmond. The successful issue of Sherman's move will have severed communication between the two main rebel armies, and Hood's present campaign seems to be directed toward securing such communication by the line mentioned. Hood's army in this case would be in position to join Lee's, should this move become advisable.

SHERMAN'S MARCH.

What Roger A. Pryor says—Augusta sure to Fall.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The latest information from the South is probably that from Ex-General Roger A. Pryor, who was brought hither to-day as a prisoner, and lodged in the Old Capitol. He was captured last Sunday, near Petersburge. Several gentlemen, who shortly after that occurrence were present during a conversation with him, say he admitted that Sherman had captured Macon and Milledgeville, and that there was little, if any, doubt from the rapid progres he was making, that he had captured Augusta; and that he would encounter nothing serious to impede his march to the seaboard; that with Augusta in his possession the southwest would be cut of from Richmond, and that no troops could be sent from Lee to reinforce Savannah. Gen. Pryor talked freely and apparently with frankness, remarking that the South now regarded Gen. Sherman with more alarm than any other officer in the service of the United States, and that the press of the South would not be so communicative as heretofore regarding Sherman's movements. He further said it was reported that Sherman had liberated a number of Federal prisoners and armed them, but that this rumor needed confirmation.

GOV. BROWN'S PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF GEORGIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
MILLEDGEVILLE, Nov. 19, 1864.

The whole people understand how imminent is the danger that threatens the State. Our cities are being burned, our fields laid waste, and our wives and children mercilessly driven from their homes by a powerful enemy. We must strike like men for freedom, or we must submit to subjugation.

Death is to be preferred to loss of liberty. All must rally to the field for the present emergency or the State is overrun.

I, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the statute of this State, hereby order a levy en masse of the whole free white male population residing or domiciled in this State, between sixteen and fifty-five years of age, except such as are physically unable to bear arms, which physical defect must be plain and indisputable, or they must be sent to the camp for examination, and except those engaged in the legislative or judicial departments of the Government, which are by the recent act of the Legislature declared to be exempt from compulsory service.

All others are absolutely required, and members of the Legislature and Judges are invited, to report immediately to Maj.-Gen. G. W. Smith, at Macon, or wherever else in Georgia his camp may be, for forty days' service under arms, unless the emergency is sooner passed.

The statute declares that all persons hereby called out shall be subject after this call to all the rules and articles of war of the Confederate States, and on the failure to report shall be subject to the pains and penalties of the crime of desertion.

Volunteer organizations formed into companies, battalions, regiments, brigades or divisions, will be accepted for forty days, if they even approximate to the numbers in each organization which is required by the militia laws of this State which were in force prior to the late act.

All police companies formed in counties for home defence will report, leaving at home for the time only those over fifty years of age; and all persons having Confederate details or exemptions, who, by the late decision of the Supreme Court of this State, are held to be liable to State militia service, and bound to obey the call of the Governor.

All such refusing report will be arrested by the police force, or by any aid de-camp or other officer of this State, and carried immediately to the front. The necessary employees of railroads now actively engaged, and the necessary agents of the express company and the telegraph operators are, from the necessity for their services in their present position, excused.

All ordained ministers of religion, in charge of a church or synagogue, are also excused.

All railroad companies in this State will transport all persons applying for transportation to the front; and, in case any one refuses, its President, Superintendent, agents and employes will be immediately sent to the front.

All Aids-de-Camp and other State officers are required to be active and vigilant in the execution of the orders contained in this proclamation; and all Confederate officers are respectfully invited to aid State officers in their vicinity in sending forward all persons hereby ordered to the front.

The enemy has penetrated almost to the centre of your State. If every Georgian able to bear arms would rally around him, he could never escape.

JOSEPH E. BROWN, Governor.

MADISON STATION BURNED.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 20.

From a gentlemen up the Georgia road, who left Greensboro' yesterday, we learn that Madison has shared the fate of other places visited by the enemy in his present movement. The fire was set to the depot by the incursion of about one thousand cavalry, who reported the strength of their column at two corps, about sixteen thousand men. They returned to their infantry camp after setting fire to the town.

[Madison is a station on the Georgia State Railroad, one hundred and three miles west from Augusta.]

AT BUCKHEAD STATION ON THE 20TH INST.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 20.

An engine sent up the Georgia road this morning found the advance of the enemy about Buckhead; in what force was not ascertained. Considerable excitement existed up the road, and many were removing their effects.

[Buckhead is a station on the Georgia State Railroad, ninety-four miles west from Augusta.]

SLOCUM AT GREENSBORO ON THE 20TH INST.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 20.

The up train on this road yesterday did not go further than Crawfordville, sixty-five miles from Augusta, from which point an engine was sent up to Union Point, ten miles further. The engineer reports that the enemy were three miles above the latter place; in what force was not known, but believed to be but a small body of cavalry. It is rumored that the enemy crossed the Oconee below the railroad bridge. The enemy was in Greensboro on Sunday afternoon.

[Greensboro is a station on the Georgia State Railroad, eighty-four miles west from Augusta.]

SLOCUM'S INFANTRY WEST OF THE OCONEE ON THE 21ST.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov 21.

The only reliable information of the position and movements of the enemy up the Georgia road is that the bridge over the Oconee has been burned by them. Their infantry force is still on the Atlanta side of that stream. This bridge is seven miles above Greensboro. Up the river from it, fourteen miles, is the Flat Shoals crossing; and below, nine miles, is another bridge. Greensboro is eighty miles from Augusta.

HOWARD'S CORPS.

CHEMICAL WORKS AND FOUNDRY DESTROYED AT GRISWOLDVILLE.

From the Savannah News, Nov. 23.

A private dispatch, dated Gordon, half-past two o'clock, states that at that hour the enemy were within two miles of Gordon. They had burnt the chemical works, a lumber train and a foundry at Griswoldville. A Confederate force in sufficient numbers to meet them was at Gordon. The force of the enemy was but a raiding-party.

Since the above was in type we learn that a force of the enemy occupied Gordon yesterday.

OCCUPATION OF MILLEDGEVILLE.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 22.

Milledgeville is supposed to be in the hands of the enemy. It had been entirely evacuated by our forces. Everything of value had been brought off.

PROCLAMATION OF THE MAYOR.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, AUGUSTA, GA., Nov. 21, 1864.

All bar-rooms or places where spirituous or intoxicating liquors are retailed, in the City of Augusta, must be closed from this day and until further orders. This order is rendered necessary in view of the crisis that is upon us, and for the interest of the Government and the city.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of said city to be affixed, the day and date aforesaid.

PREPARING FOR A SIEGE.

OFFICE CHIEF INSPECTOR OF FIELD TRANSPORTATION,
SECOND DISTRICT, AUGUSTA, GA., Nov. 21, 1864.

Wood wagons and wagons hauling provisions to this place, will not be interfered with, and if any such have been taken they will be at once delivered upon application to this office.

NORMAN W. SMITH,
Major and Chief Inspector.

EVERY MAN TO HIS POST.

From the Register, Nov. 22.

Gen. Fry issues an order this morning calling on all the men in Augusta to prepare immediately for the defence of their homes by uniting themselves with some local organization. We have no need to say a word of the importance of this call. It can no longer be doubted that an insolent foe is in the very heart of our beloved Empire State, burning, pillaging and desolating the country they pass over. Our homes are threatened with the same fate that has thrust thousands from their homes in the upper portion of the State. The enemy is coming with his hell hounds, thirsty for plunder, and the torch is red in his hands. He would leave our beautiful city a smouldering heap of blackened ruins, our firesides desolate, our women and children thrust out of house and home, our altars desecrated, and our whole country a barren waste. Georgians, can there be need of an appeal to rouse you to your duty in this trying hour? We think not. If you are not insensible to all the principles of patriotism you will rally now—rally as one man to meet the coming foe. You will not have to stand alone to oppose the coming storm. Soldiers are already arriving, others are on their way from Virginia. Shall they come and find you inactive? Nay; let every arm now grasp its weapon, and every effort be made to throw obstructions in the pathway of the foe. On you alone depends your safety. Remain inactive, and the consequence may prove fatal; do your duty, and the overthrow of the enemy is sure.

AN APATHY EXISTING IN AUGUSTA.

From the Augusta Register, Nov. 22.

It is high time that our citizens looked the stern emergency in the face and prepared themselves accordingly to ward off the danger. The worst feature prevalent in our midst is a universal apathy. A frightened multitude may reach to deeds and sentiments of heroism; but apathy is like the silence that broods over the Dead Sea. The enemy can be thrust back if we will it.

A LOCAL COMPANY REPORTED CAPTURED.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 22.

It was reported on our streets last evening that the Wheeler Dragoons, of our town, had been captured by the enemy. We are assured by the Captain of the troop that there is not the slightest foundation, so far as he knows, of such a rumor.

FROM MACON.

THE NEWSPAPERS LEAVING.

THE GEORGIA LEGISLATURE ORDERED INTO THE TRENCHES, BUT ESCAPE.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 22.

Everybody about Macon is in the trenches. The members of the Legislature passing through were arrested and efforts made to put them in the ranks, but all efforts failed, and they managed to get off.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Capture of Roger A. Pryor.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The rebel Ex-General Roger A. Pryor, now a private soldier in the Confederate Army, was captured on Friday last by the Fifth Corps pickets of the Army of the Potomac, while attempting to exchange papers with our pickets. This was done in retaliation for the recent capture of Capt. Burbridge by the rebel picket under similar circumstances.

Pryor says that Gen. Lee issued an order for the return of Capt. Burbridge on Saturday, and he will probably be returned as soon as Capt. Burbridge is sent back.

Since the capture of Pryor, Capt. Burbridge has been dismissed from the army for disobeying the order forbidding the exchange of papers or holding intercourse with the enemy under any pretext whatever.

Pryor has been brought to Washington and been committed to the Old Capitol Prison.

The information from the Army of the Potomac is up to Sunday evening. It states that the usual amount of picket firing was heard along the front, but beyond that all was quiet.

In Gen. Butler's Department the picket firing was heavier than usual on Sunday, and there was also considerable cannonading.

Mr. Pryor in Washington.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

Ex-General and Ex-Honorable Roger A. Pryor, who was captured last Sunday in front of the Fifth Corps picket line, reached Washington this morning. It appears that it had been determined to capture the first rebel officer who should offer to exchange papers with the pickets, in retaliation for the capture of Capt. Burbridge, of one of the Massachusetts regiments, and who has since been dismissed the service for having disobeyed orders forbidding an exchange of papers or holding intercourse with the enemy under any pretext whatever.

HOW HE WAS CAPTURED.

The circumstance of Pryor's capture was purely accidental, and happened in the following manner: Last Sunday an officer on picket duty, noticing a man prowling in front on the picket line, drew a paper from his pocket and waved it to the rebel as a sign to come forward and "exchange," not for a moment suspecting who the individual was. Pryor seeing the officer waving the paper boldly advanced toward our lines, when the Union officer discovered that he was a rebel of rank, and instead of offering the paper for exchange, drew a pistol and presented it to Roger's head, at the same time requesting him to surrender, which he did without resistance, but was evidently a little crest-fallen at being taken in and done for by a Yankee. Pryor now belongs to the Seventh Virginia Cavalry, having been reduced to the ranks, it will be remembered, by court-martial, for disobedience of orders. At the time of his capture he was attached to Gen. Lee's headquarters, as Lee's chief scout.

He was brought up on the James Brady, and was turned over to Col. Ingraham to be disposed of. He is but little changed in his outward appearance, although his features are darker from exposure; but those who were accustomed to see him on the avenue in this city, and in the Hall of Representatives, would easily have recognized him from his long flowing black hair, sharp black eye, and bold and defiant look. He was dressed in a new suit of Confederate gray cloth, and wore a shawl or blanket, which he drew tightly around him, and in which he sought to hide his face as he stepped from the boat to the wharf, although after reaching the street, and before entering the carriage which conveyed him to the Provost-Marshal's office, he looked anxiously around, apparently as if to see whether he could recognize any of his old friends in the crowd that were pushing forward to get a glimpse of him. His hair almost reached his shoulders, and upon his head he wore a stiff rim black hat. He had on a pair of cavalry boots which came up to his knees, into the legs of which he had his pants stuffed.

On the way up from City Point to this city, Pryor was provided with a state-room on the boat, and no one was allowed to enter and converse with him, as a sentinel was placed at the door, which the General kept closed, evidently being anxious to avoid the gaze of the passengers. After the boat reached the Sixth-street wharf, he remained quietly seated in his room, smoking a cigar; but when the officer who had charge of him tapped at his door, and told him to prepare to leave the boat, he stepped out into the stateroom with a long stride, remarking, in a theatrical style, as he did so: "Show the way; I am ready."

The Virginia "hidalgo" walked down Pennsylvania-avenue escorted by a Yankee guard, and preceded by three well-dressed gentlemen of color, who were accidentally promenading the avenue. The valiant Pryor must have drawn some unpleasant comparisons between his former swaggering marches to the New Capitol, and his present enforced walk to the Old Capitol.

INTERVIEW WITH MR. JEROME.

Mr. Jerome, the well-known York banker, and an old acquaintance of Pryor, came up on the same steamer with him from Grant's headquarters, and made him a present of a shawl and fifty dollars, he being entirely out of funds. He told Mr. Jerome that Sherman was the only Federal General the rebels really feared. He thought Sherman would be able to reach the seacoast and capture Augusta en route; but was very skeptical as to his ability to take either Charleston or Savannah. Pryor, it is understood, will be sent to Fort Lafayette.

Perfect Quiet—Humors of the Pickets—Drowning Out the Rebels—The Turkeys—Mirth and Jollification—Rebel News—Summary from the Richmond Examiner—Amusing Comments by Rebel Editors, &c., &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH CORPS,
WELDON ROAD VA.,
Friday, Nov. 25, 1864.

I have nothing new to tell to-night, except to notice the fact that our lines have continued remarkably quiet during the past twenty-four hours, so much so as to be the subject of general remark. No reason can be given for it, for no new orders have been issued, and the old ones regarding firing continue still in force. The pickets have become quite numerous. Our boys chaff the "Johnnies" about their "water works," and the rebels retort by yelling "turkeys" in reply. The recent operations of the enemy in damning up the creek on our right bids fair to redound to their serious discomfiture. Their dam was situated in a bend of the creek, where it left our lines for theirs, and afterward came back into ours. When it was discovered by our men, a new dam was built at the lower end of the land, and then a "Plum Gut" canal dug, which relieved us of the superabundant water, and so threw the onus and the flood back upon the rebels. From the fact that they cannot get rid of the aqueous element, and tha we are adding each day to the heighth and strength of our dam, the consequences to Lee threaten to be serious. It would be comical, if, after besieging the enemy so long, we drown them out after all.

The weather has continued very fine, and the troops enjoy their out-door life with additional zest, owing to the delicious days vouchsafed to us. Bands can be heard pouring out stirring melody all day, drills and parades have been resumed, and the camps are fast emerging from the mud.

The military railroad has been extended for some two miles further to our left, which extension was necessitated by the length of our lines. The new station is named "Patrick Station." We have now Meade, Hancock, Parke, Warren, Biney, Patrick, and Cedar Level Stations. The new part of the line is a very curious one, dipping into and crossing two or three marshes, and rising abruptly over several hills. At times the trains disappear altogether in the hollows. This railroad is one of the wonders of the day, and proves conclusively that cars can be run over the rough country without much trouble. By the new extension much of our transportation has been relieved.

Talking of railroads reminds me that Lee is following Gen. Grant's example, and is building a railroad for the accommodation of his army. The whistle of his locomotives can be heard distinctly. When I was down on the right, the day before yesterday, I could see trains occasionally, but they are cunning enough not to expose their cars much, else our artillerists would return the compliment the rebels used to bestow upon our trains, until they found that their gunners were not "good on the wing." Shooting at our fast engines proved very slow work, notwithstanding that they accidentally knocked off one of the smoke stacks.

Our Thanksgiving turkeys were very slow in coming to time. To-night it is expected that the troops will be in possession of their "gobblers." From being gobbled by the enemy, having a feast of gobblers will be a pleasant change for our brave boys. At the present writing there are more "drumsticks" in the army than are generally allowable by regulations. The mince pies that were invoiced to this army were pretty well "minced" by the time they arrived at their destination. I saw whole boxes that looked more like sausage-meat than comestible pastry. Some of the apples, on the boards being opened, were of course found to be a little "touched." In many instances turkeys, as well as apples, were "touched," but the gobblers were never seen after being handled. There is plenty of pine gum in these parts, but it is generally believed that turkeys were as difficult to remove from certain hands as the more pitchy article.

I was asked, in many instances to "pitch into" the delinquent parties, and I know of no better way than by broadly stating that it is generally reported that the sanctity of many of the packages were grossly violated in transitu from the boat to the different depots. From the appearance of several of the boxes I saw at one of the stations, I should judge the charge to be well founded. The boys feel gratified at the attention of their friends at home, and knowing, as they do, that it was no fault of the generous donors of the feast, that their liberal contribution was late in arriving, evince commendible patience. No doubt the turkies will eat all the better for the prolonged anticipation. To-day the apples were distributed, and I think that there was more apple-juice to-day than ever known before in this army. The boys say that the turkeys are "something like the rebels, pretty well played out." They think that the turkey conscription must have been terrific, and suggest, that their being no commutation, it deserves the favorable consideration of our next Congress. One chap said, as I rode past his camp, that he believed "that the late turkey raid in the North would result in the complete overthrow of the Turkish Empire." At all events, the Turkish devotions are in the ascendant, and the sutler loses his profit.

I have had a glimpse at the Richmond Examiner of yesterday, but find its news very meagre. It reports that everything remains quiet at the front at Petersburgh and Richmond, and speaks of the effects of the late rains as having rendered the roads impassable for artillery, and that no immediate movement can be made by either commander. They might change their opinion if they could see our roads. It also speaks of Yankee deserters bringing the intelligence that Grant is stuck in the mud, but that it is thought that he is preparing to "spread his wings." If he does, the army will light in Petersburgh beyond a doubt. In confirmation of this, our boys expect to be able to have their usual theatrical amusements in the beleaguered city this Winter.

The Examiner reports that it can obtain nothing definite from Georgia, but copies some details from Northern papers, speaking of a column marching upon Augusta and of another proceeding in the direction of Macon. It thinks that it is probable that these columns would unite beyond Macon and proceed together for Augusta, and that both columns would destroy railroads and everything else on the line of march. It tries to throw a pleasant light upon the dismal picture by saying that "persons who have an opportunity of ascertaining the situation of affairs in Georgia are quite hopeful that Gen. Sherman will be brought to grief ere he reaches the coast." What a pity that such hopes should prove false.

Under the head "later," it pretends to publish private despatches confirmatory of their former statement that Macon had not yet been attacked by the enemy. Deserters tell us that it is generally believed in the rebel ranks that Sherman captured Macon some days ago. The Examiner believes that Sherman will meet with opposition at a point on his route that it declines to mention at present. It also states that "Augusta was all right last night," and that every moment increases its safety. The statement that "several despatches concur in declaring Sherman's army as being mired," is very amusing. After saying that the above items from Georgia is all it is disposed to publish, it goes on to make extracts from Georgia papers, which state that Gen. Garrard has been extensively foraging in Gwinnett County, and that he "carried off large numbers of beef cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry, corn, fodder, peas, potatoes and household furniture," about "six hundred and fifty loaded wagons." Of course it gasconades, and says that two or three thousand Confederates could have captured the whole expedition,—consisting of six thousand infantry and cavalry—but forgets to mention they never do such things. It tells queer stories about our men living on two crackers and a half per day, and that they eat geese with their entrails as a natural stuffing.

In another part it says that the "Yankees sent a detachment up to Canton, Cherokee County, and that they ordered the citizens to remove, and then burned the town." About two-thirds of the town was destroyed, and it was because guerrillas hanged Union citizens. The Examiner calls them tories.

From the valley we learn that Rosser, as he usually does, has been driving our cavalry before him like the wind. The editor says that the chase must have presented a very lively spectacle, and that "one brigade of Confederate cavalry pursuing two divisions of Yankee cavalry, and compelling them to abandon their killed and wounded, is an event which challenges our (his) admiration." We must agree with him, should such an event ever happen. The fight occurred on the 22d; and the rebel loss was eight killed and wounded. He naively says "that the Yankee loss is not known, but it could not be very large," and that "the Yankees were driven back beyond Edinburgh."

Altogether the rebel editors have a queer time of it, trying to make cheese out of chalk, and we cannot envy them their occupation. The Examiner has a scorching article about Sherman invading Georgia, and tries, by going back to Lord Cornwallis and his march through the South, to prove that Gen. Sherman is doing the very best thing he can do to keep Georgia out of the Union, concluding as follows:

"If the people through whose towns and farms Sherman is passing now, remain true to themselves and to their State, then not only will Georgia never be conquered, but this audacious host of invaders will never see again the Ohio or Potomac."

Speaking of the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, it says:

"The aggregate public debt is given at eleven hundred and fifty millions for the first of last month, which is two or three hundred millions less than the public had expected, and only one-half the acknowledged and audited debt of the Federal Government. Our war of resistance has cost, in other words, only half the expenditure which has attended the Federal war of aggression; and the difference is doubtless represented by the peculation and knavery that have characterized the Federal administration, of which the five millions stolen by Mr. Lincoln enters as a component part."

After that extract, I have done.

Thanksgiving—The Turkeys—The Cavalry Corps Hospital.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CAVALRY CORPS HOSPITAL,
NEW CITY POINT, VA.,
Friday, Nov. 25, 1864.

Never did a more lovely day burst upon us than yesterday, the day appointed by the President for a general Thanksgiving. Not a cloud obscured the sky. The deliciously clear and frosty air seemed to impart to everybody a renewed sense of life and vigor, and every one to be met, whether soldier or civilian, carried in his beaming face not only the evidence that this was a great national holiday, but that never had a nation more cause to be thankful to the Author of all good for the way in which it is being extricated from the most dreadful perils that ever yet threatened the existence of a people. Joy and festivity were the order of the day, and you may depend upon it that our brave fellows in the field knew how to do justice to the occasion; none the less that the good things they were enjoying were seasoned with the recollection that they were owing to the gratuitous and appreciative recollection of their friends at home.

Such an accumulation of fat turkies as came tumbling about its wharf during the day, City Point certainly never saw before since it was in existence. But they did not long remain, and as fast as they were landed were hurried off to their hungry recipients in the various portions of the army. I venture to say that many were sparing in their use of army rations that day, to allow a little extra latitude for savory turkey. Music lent its charms to the festivity, and at nightfall the whole country resounded with the strains of national airs from bands in every direction, mingled, every now and then, with such soul-subduing melodies as "Home, Sweet Home," which never reach the heart more keenly than among the brave when separated by distance and danger from all they love best.

There was no Thanksgiving dinner,—(as far as the turkey part of the business is concerned,)—in the hospital from which I date this letter; nor do I think in any of the hospitals. There was some surprise at this at first, and a little grumbling; but when the matter came to be calmly discussed it was evident the treat was only intended for the brave fellows actually at work in the field, who never taste any of those extra delicacies with which all our hospitals are regularly abundantly supplied. One thing I must record to the credit of the rebels, and that is, that they had the politeness to refrain from doing anything to disturb or mar our pleasure and digestion during the whole day and night.

Some time ago, while writing about the admirable condition of our hospitals at City Point, I mentioned with especial commendation the Cavalry Corps Hospital, under the charge of Surgeon S. B. W. Mitchell, of the Eighth Pennsylvania Cavalry, who indeed organized it as far back as July, 1863, under Gen. Pleasonton, (then Chief of Cavalry, Army of the Potomac,) and has been admirably managing it ever since. I little thought that what I then wrote of the kindness and efficiency I had noticed in the treatment of those committed to the Doctor's care, I should so soon have cause to test and gratefully acknowledge in my own person. But so it is. A sickness that denied all active exercise for the present, and threatened continuance, compelled me to seek aid here, and I am happy to say that the last few days of perfect rest, under Dr. Mitchell's skill and unremitting attentions, have so far restored me that I hope to be free again, for active duty, in a day or two.

This place was the scene of quite an interesting event lately, and worthy of recording. It was on the occasion of the presentation of a magnificent sword and belt to Dr. Mitchell by the hospital officials under him. The following preambles and resolutions will give the best idea of the nature of the affair.

"At a meeting of the hospital stewards, ward masters, attendants and guards of the Cavalry Corps Hospital, held on the evening of Oct. 6, 1864, the following preambles and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, owing to the untiring labor of Major Sam. B. Wylie Mitchell, surgeon in charge of Cavalry Corps Hospital, who, as such, has been connected with this organization since its inception; this hospital stands now confessedly at the head of kindred institutions in the armies of the United States; and we, therefore, consider this the most fitting time to present him with a testimonial that shall evince our sense of his complete success; and

Whereas, the time of service of some of our number who have been long on duty in this camp, and who desire to join in this expression of respect and esteem, is about expiring; therefore,

Resolved, That, in token of respect to the surgeon in charge of this hospital, Major Sam. B. Wylie Mitchell, we present to him a suitable testimonial for his soldierly tone, impartial sense of justice and uniform kindness toward those whose duty it has been, while under his command, to care for our sick and wounded fellow-soldiers.

Resolved, That we make the presentation, not for its intrinsic value, but that its possession may ever bring to mind the just appreciation which its donors entertain of him who, since its organization, has presided over the hospital with such distinguished honor and signal ability, and under whose skillful direction we have endeavored to discharge our duty to our country and our unfortunate comrades.

Resolved, That we recognize in Surgeon Mitchell the true type of the American officer, combining with the courtesy of the gentleman the strictness of the disciplinarian, the cool courage of the veteran soldier, and an unswerving and patriotic devotion to the cause in which we are engaged.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to Maj. Sam. B. Wylie Mitchell, Surgeon in charge of Cavalry Corps Hospital, attested by the officers of the meeting.

(Signed) GEORGE A. SMITH,
Hosp. Stew. Seventh Mich. Cav., President.
George M. Wheeler, Hosp. Stew. Eighth N. Y. Cav., Secretary.

The presentation took place at the Headquarters, the "Nelson House"—an old Virginia mansion—on a lovely moonlight evening, the procession being accompanied by the band of the Ninth Corps, and was altogether very imposing. The presentation was accompanied by a few of the most elegant remarks of the Rev. John F. Mines, Acting Chaplain of Cavalry Corps Hospital, and as eloquently and feelingly replied to by the worthy recipient.

The gift is very beautiful. The blade is of Damascus steel, exquisitely chased, with an ivory hilt, on which is carved the Goddess of Liberty. A large amethyst adorns the front, and the whole is surrounded by a spread eagle. The metallic scabbard is heavily gilt, and richly ornamented with elaborate carvings, having the letters "U. S." upon it, in pearls, surrounded by a wreath of laurels and oak. The sword-belt is of black leather, with massive gilded chains attached, to which the sabre is appended. It is, in short, one of the most elegant affairs ever presented in our army.

All remains quiet in front up to the time of closing this letter; but there is no telling what any hour may bring forth.

Rumored Rebel Raid on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad—Reported Capture of New Creek and Piedmont.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The Evening Edition of the American publishes the following:

"The city is full of rumors to-day in relation to the raid on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, but up to the time of going to press we have not been able to ascertain anything definite. Among the reports are that New-Creek has been captured by the raiders, and that Piedmont is also in their hands. We only give these reports as current rumors, and cannot vouch for their correctness. New-Creek has has been for some time strongly fortified, and if it has been captured, we should have learned some of the particulars by telegraph."

SECOND DISPATCH.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The reported raid at New-Creek was a very small affair. No detention of the regular through passenger or freight trains, eastward or westward bound, occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The raiders were promptly driven from the road and no further trouble is anticipated. Arrangements have been made by the military authorities to insure the security of the entire line for commercial and government transportation.

DISPATCH FROM WHEELING.

WHEELING, West Va., Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The enemy, under Gen. Payne, surprised, captured and burned New-Creek, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, yesterday. They sent a force of about three hundred to Piedmont, which was stubbornly opposed by Company A, of the Sixth West Virginia Volunteers, and, after a fight of three hours, the rebels retreated on the Elk Garden road.

The damage inflicted on the railroad at Piedmont was very slight. Communication between this point and Cumberland has been reëstablished.

FURTHER DETAILS.

BALTIMORE, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The following are the facts, as far as they can be gathered, of the raid on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

About 1 o'clock, Monday afternoon, a rebel force, estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000 strong, appeared in front of New-Creek Station, which was defended by a small body of troops behind earthworks. The latter were soon overcome, and either surrendered or fled.

In a short time the enemy were in full possession of the post. They blew up the earthworks and destroyed all the temporary and other buildings, excepting the residence of Col. Armstrong, who is either now, or has been, in the rebel army.

The cutting of the telegraph wires gave the alarm to the railroad men at Piedmont, whereupon all the rolling stock of the company and other moveable property was sent off. Soon after, the enemy reached Piedmont and destroyed the road-houses of the company, also a large workshop, and a considerable quantity of valuable stationary machinery. So far as is known no damage was done to the railroad track or bridges.

The enemy are reported to have left, going in a southerly direction. There is reason to hope that the raiders will be overtaken by the force sent in pursuit.

THE CASE OF THE FLORIDA—PRINTERS ON A STRIKE.

BOSTON, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The article in the Boston Daily Advertiser this morning, in relation to the capture of the Florida, in which very strong ground is taken against the comments of the English press, and in which many English precedents are quoted to show that the ship should not be given up, is understood to be from the pen of Senator Sumner.

The morning newspaper hands are on a strike, and the proprietors offer good pay and permanent situations to good printers who will come here and supply their places.

The Democratic City and Ward Committee have nominated Thos. C. Amory, Jr., for Mayor of Boston.

Mrs. Sarah Hutchins, of Baltimore, recently convicted of giving aid and comfort to the enemies of her country, is now in Fitchburgh House of Correction, under five years' sentence.

THE RECONSTRUCTION MOVEMENT

Significant Letters from Southern Statesmen and Politicians.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. STEPHENS.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 14, 1864.

Messrs. Editors Constitutionalist, Augusta, Ga.:

DEAR SIRS: Several articles in your paper of late, some editorial and some taken from other papers, constrain me in asking you to allow me, through your columns, to put myself right before your readers upon the question of a Convention of the States, reconstruction, etc. This I cannot more effectually do, and with less labor to myself, than by submitting to their perusal the inclosed letter from me to Senator SEMMES, of Louisiana. The letter fully explains itself. It was written as soon as I read his speech alluded to in your paper.

The elections are now over at the North, and the same reasons do not at present exist as did then for withholding from the public the views it contains; though nothing but a strong desire that I may not be misunderstood by any, at home or abroad, induces me even now to spread them before the public. All I ask of you, or my countrymen, on this as on all other questions, is in the language of Themistocles, "Strike, but hear me."

The letter to Senator SEMMES was entirely private, and not intended at all for publication; still I have no concealments, and the public are at all times perfectly welcome to my most private views and opinions on public affairs, whenever I am satisfied that it is proper they should have them for vindication of my own conduct and motives.

Some parts of the letter relating to public matters, not pertinent to my present object, you will see marked in pencil; these you will please omit from public consideration—others similarly marked, relating exclusively to individual affairs, you will also please omit from private considerations, noting the places of omission by asterisks.

Please publish this note with the inclosed letter, and much oblige me.

Yours, most respectfully,
ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 5, 1864.

MY DEAR SIR: I have just read a report of your speech at Mobile. From that report I am persuaded you are greatly mistaken as to my views upon the subject of a convention of the States, and I trust you will excuse and pardon me for this letter upon that subject. I have by no means invited such a convention by anything that I have said or written upon the subject. It is not at all a favorite idea with me as a mode of inaugurating negotiations for peace. I see many difficulties attending it. But as so respectable a body as the Chicago Convention, representing so large a portion of the enemy, had pledged themselves, if brought into power, to tender such a proposition, I did think, and do still think, that it was highly politic and wise on our part to respond favorably to that proposition, inasmuch as I saw no insuperable objections to it, with the limitations and restrictions stated in my letter. Indeed, with those limitations, I saw no objections at all, under present circumstances, to acceding to such a proposition (if it should be made) as the initiation of negotiations.

It would be the first step, and in all such cases the first step is often the most difficult. If the federal Government should propose to ours a convention of the States, I do not see why it might not be accepted, simply as an advisory body, as I suggested. I see no constitutional difficulties in the way. The treaty-making power in both Governments is ample to provide for it. The treaty-making power on both sides might agree to submit the questions at issue to the consideration of any body of men on earth, if they choose, and hear the report, without any pledge in advance to be bound by that report.

In personal quarrels such submission is often made; and, to the honor of humanity it may be said, that in most cases of this kind the result is an amicable and honorable settlement. Whether such would be the result of a convention of the States in our case, is, of course, uncertain. The probabilities, I am free to say, in my judgment, are that it would. At any rate, there is a possibility that it might. When we look at the elements of such a body, if it should be tendered on the other side and accepted on ours, and the true nature of the controversy, I am not without strong hopes that it would so result.

There is no prospect of such proposition being tendered unless McClellan should be elected. He cannot be elected without carrying a sufficient number of the States, which, if united with those of the Confederacy, would make a majority of the States. In such a convention, then, so formed, have we not strong reasons to hope and expect that a resolution could be passed denying the constitutional power of the Government under the compact of 1787 to coerce a State? The Chicago platform virtually does this already. Would not such a convention most probably reaffirm the Kentucky and Virginia resolutions of 1798 and 1799? Are there not strong reasons at least to induce us to hope and believe that they might? If even that could be done it would end the war. It would recognize as the fundamental principle of American institutions the ultimate, absolute sovereignty of the several States. This fully covers our independence as fully as I wish ever to see it covered. I wish no other kind of recognition, whenever it comes, than that of George III. of England, viz.: the recognition of the sovereignty and independence of each State separately and by name. Our Confederation was formed by sovereign and independent States. It was formed for the defence and maintenance of the sovereignty of each. We have unity of name and unity of action simply because the cause of each has become the cause of all. If, then, a majority of all the States should in solemn convention settle this great principle, would it not virtually settle the controversy and end the war, covering everything for which we are contending? Would not the terms of a final treaty of peace be easily adjusted after the settlement of this great principle? And are there not sufficient reasons to hope that such might be the result in case a convention should be proposed as I have stated, and accepted as a mode of inaugurating negotiations of peace, to justify our making a favorable response to the tender of it by the party at Chicago, in case they should be brought into power? To my mind it seems clear that they are.

You will also allow me to say, that I look upon the election of McClellan as a matter of vast importance to us in every possible view of the case, and hence I thought it judicious, patriotic and wise to do everything that could be properly done to aid his election. Whatever may be his individual opinions, he is the candidate of the State Rights party at the North, in opposition to the Centralists and Consolidationists, whose hobby now is abolitionism. I have thought from the beginning that our true policy was to build up and strengthen such a party at the North, by all means in our power. Not only upon the wise maxim of Philip of Macedon, to divide the enemy as a question of policy merely, but from a higher and much nobler motive. Not only an early peace, but our future safety, security and happiness required it. The people of the North are obliged to be our neighbors. It matters not how this war may terminate, they are alongside of us, and must, with the generations after them, there remain forever. It is of the utmost importance to us and our posterity that they should be good neighbors, whatever be the relations existing between them and us. To be good neighbors they must have a good government. It is almost as vital to us that they have a good government, as that we have such ourselves. It is much better to govern, if it can be done, by ideas than the sword. If this war shall result in the establishment, permanently, of the fundamental principle lying at the foundation of American constitutional liberty, that is, the absolute, ultimate sovereignty of the States, it will more than compensate for all its sacrifices of blood and treasure, great as these have been or may be. It will secure peace on the continent for ages to come. We, therefore, have a great interest in fostering, cherishing and building up and raising to power at the North any party favoring these principles. If the proper line of policy had been pursued by our authorities toward that element of popular sentiment at the North from the beginning, I believe the State Rights party there would have been triumphant at the approaching election. I believe an out and out State Rights man might and would have been nominated at Chicago, and elected. But the policy of our authorities seems to me, as far as I can judge of it, to have been directed with a view to weaken, cripple and annihilate that party.

So far from acting even upon the policy of dividing the enemy, their object seems to have been to unite and strengthen them. I do, moreover, verily believe, that if President Davis, even after McClellan's nomination, had made a favorable response to the Chicago resolution looking to a convention of the States, as a mode of inaugurating negotiations of peace, that it would greatly have aided his election. It might have secured it.

All that he need have said in some public manner was, that if such a proposition should be tendered by the Federal Government, he would accede to it, with some such limitations and restrictions as stated by me in the letter before alluded to. The idea that this could not be constitutionally done is strange to me. In the most objectionable view of the subject, delegates, one or more from each State, would be but commissioners or plenipotentiaries from each Government respectively, to initiate negotiations, &c. Their acts would be subject to the approval or disapproval of their Governments respectively. Why commissioners could not be appointed in this way, as well as any other, without any violation of the Constitution, I do not see. The treaty-making power in both Governments is ample for this purpose. At least it seems so to me. Indeed, as I have said before, it seems to me that it is ample on both sides to submit the questions in issue to the consideration merely of any body on earth. But enough of this

* * * * *

I know there are many persons among us, whose opinions are entitled to high consideration, who do not agree with me on the question of MCCLELLAN's election. They prefer LINCOLN to MCCLELLAN. Perhaps the President belongs to that class. Judging from his acts, I should think that he did. Those of the class to whom I refer, with whom I have met, think that if what they term a conservative man should be elected, or any on the Chicago platform even, that such terms for a restoration of the Union would be offered as our people would accept. The ghost of the Union haunts them. The spectre of reconstruction rears its ghastly head at every corner to their imagination. Their apprehensions, I doubt not, are sincere. But I entertain none such myself. I am no believer in ghosts of any kind. The old Union and the old Constitution are both dead—dead forever, except in so far as the Constitution has been preserved by us. There is for the Union as it was, no resurrection by any power short of that which brought LAZARUS from the tomb. There may be, and doubtless are, many at the North and some at the South who look forward to the restoration of the Union and the Constitution as it was; but such ideas are as vain and illusory as the dreamy imagining of the Indian warrior who in death clings to his weapons, in fond expectation that he will have use for them beyond the grave in other lands and new hunting grounds. These fears of voluntary reconstruction are but chimeras of the brain.

No one need entertain any such from McClellan's election. But on the contrary, I think that peace and peace upon the basis of a separation of the States and our independence, would be the almost certain ultimate result, if our authorities should act wisely, in the event of his election. My reasons for this opinion are briefly these: A proposition for an armistice and a convention of the States might be expected from him soon after his induction into office. This on our side being acceded to, as it ought to be, some time would elapse before the conferees could meet. The passions of the day on both sides would considerably subside in the interim. The convention might adopt such a resolution as I have stated. Looking to its probable composition, as before stated, there is strong probability that it would.

That, as before stated, would end the matter, and to our entire satisfaction. But take the worst supposable view of it. Suppose that they should wrangle, do nothing and adjourn, and that no other mode of settlement by negotiation should be proposed. How would matters then stand? McClellan would doubtless, as his letter of acceptance indicates he would do, renew the war for the restoration of the Union and the old Constitution, with all its guarantees. The moment he should do this, the whole abolition element of the North, now the life and soul of the war, would turn against it. The old Union, with the old Constitution, is just what they do not want. They have always regarded it as no better than "a league with Satan and covenant with hell." The right arm of the war spirit of the North will be paralyzed the moment the war is put upon that footing. Besides this, at least two-thirds of MCCLELLAN's own party manfully hold and proclaim the doctrine that there is no power in the Central Government constitutionally to coerce a State. These two elements would constitute an overwhelming majority at the North decidedly against the further prosecution of the war. Meanwhile financial embarrassments would be doing their work. The war would inevitably fail in consequence. When all efforts to persuade our people to go back into the Union voluntarily failed, as they would, if our authorities shall so act as to secure the hearts and affections of the people as they ought, then MCCLELLAN would ultimately be compelled to give up the restoration of the Union as a forlorn hope. Peace would come slowly but surely upon our own terms and without any more fighting. But this is not all. Other causes would operate to the same result, which, of themselves, even without considering those above stated, would effect the same thing. The moment MCCLELLAN should renew the war with the avowed object of restoring the Union with the old Constitution and all its guarantees, that moment, or as soon as possible, our recognition abroad would come. The silent sympathy of England, France and other European powers, at present with LINCOLN, arises entirely from their mania upon the subject of negro slavery. * * * *

LINCOLN had either to witness our recognition abroad, the moral power of which alone he saw would break down the war, or to make it an emancipation war. He chose the latter alternative, and the more readily because it chimed in so accordantly with the feelings and views of his own party. This, in my opinion, is the plain English of this whole matter; and just as soon as MCCLELLAN should renew the war with a view to restore the Union, the old Constitution with slavery, &c., would England, France, and other European powers throw all the moral power and influence of their recognition on our side. I am not certain that they would not go further, rather than see the Union thus restored, if it should become necessary. But it would not become necessary. The other causes alluded to would completely effect our deliverance without any material aid from them.

So in any and every view I can take of the subject, I regard the election of MCCLELLAN and the success of the State Rights party at the North, whose nominee he is, of the utmost importance to us. With these views you readily perceive how I regarded the action of the Chicago Convention as "a ray of light, the first ray of real light I had seen from the North since this war began." You can also from these views more correctly appreciate my motives for giving what I considered a favorable response to that action. I bespeak your careful attention to the language of that response.

From the report of your speech, I am led to infer that you entertained the opinion that I was favoring and inviting a convention of States in some outside way, and not through the organized channels of the two Governments. No such idea was in my mind, and never can be, until I am prepared for another revolution, if secession be a revolution. For the States could not go into such a convention as you seem, from the report of your speech, to think I favored, without first seceding from their present alliances.

This, to my mind, is as clear as it is to yours. * *

Of course what I said had to be brief, covering only general points. I could not go into a full explanation of my reason for what I said, because that would have done damage instead of good to the cause which I wished to aid.

I know many of our people think that any allusion to peace on our side, or any public expression of a desire for peace, or the offer of terms upon which we ought to be willing to make peace, is injurious to our cause; that it has a bad effect upon our armies and encourages the enemy to fight on under the belief that such declarations indicate a disposition to yield on our part. Some go so far as to maintain that we cannot, consistently with our purpose to secure independence at all hazards, entertain even any propositions for negotiations, unless they lie based upon our independence, or unless this be premised and granted in the offer. I concur in none of this reasoning. Nothing would give us more strength at home or abroad, with our armies and the world, than to keep constantly before the public what we are fighting for and the terms upon which the contest forced upon us may be ended. The right is with us. The right always has of itself great moral power if properly used and wielded. This depends upon what may be styled diplomacy. Diplomacy does not necessarily involve interchange of views or intercourse between parties. It should not be forgotten in wars, even though the enemy should refuse to receive any communication. The result of most wars depends so much upon diplomatic skill in its proper sense, as it does upon arms. The real statesman knows when and how to use the pen, as well as the sword. The constant proclamation to the world of what we are fighting for, can never weaken our cause with those who are periling their lives in that cause—especially if all our acts toward them and all others show that our professions are true; nor is there the slightest inconsistency, in my opinion, between the most fixed determination, on our part, to end the war upon terms of independence, and, at the same time, entertaining, hearing and accepting offers to negotiate upon any other basis whatever. The doors to treat, to negotiate, to confer, to reason, should always be kept open. Those who have the right on their side should never shun or avoid reason. They should never decline an encounter on that arena. I have been led to these remarks more with a view to self-vindication than to the expression or utterance of any unrecognized truths.

* * * * *

Upon the subject of reconstruction I stand now just just where I did in October, 1861. Then I wrote to a gentleman in answer to a letter from him, stating that I was charged with such sentiments, and desiring me to make a public denial of it. I told him, in reply, that I looked upon such a charge as that as an imputation upon my intelligence and integrity. The issue of this war, in my judgment, was subjugation or independence. I so understood it when the State of Georgia seceded, and it was with a full consciousness of this fact, with all its responsibilities, sacrifices and perils, that I pledged myself then and there to stand by her and her fortunes, whatever they might be, in the course she has adopted. As for making any public denial of such a charge, I feel too much self-respect to do it. * * * *

Yours truly,
ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.
Hon. THOMAS J. SEMMES, Confederate States Senate, Richmond, Va.

VIEWS OF REV. HON. H. W. HILLIARD.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle publishes a long letter from Rev. Hon. H. W. HILLIARD, who has just been admitted to practice law in that city. He says:

"How shall this quarrel be settled? Never by arms. The North can never conquer the South. Our country may be overrun, our great cities may be occupied by hostile troops, our fields may be desolated, our property may be destroyed, whole districts of country may be brought to the condition of the Carnatic, after the fell swoop of HYDER-ALI upon its plains, when, in the glowing language of BURKE, the British armies traversing the once fertile plains for hundreds of miles in all directions, did not, through the whole line of their march, 'see one man, not one woman, not one child, not one four-footed beast of any description whatever; one dead uniform silence reigned over the whole region;' still the South would not yield. She plants herself in the moral Thermopylæ of the world. Ruined she may be, but she cannot be conquered. She may not be able to secure immunity from invasion, from wrong, and from outrage, but the spirit of her people will never yield the contested field.

A complete triumph can never be achieved by either of the contending parties. Yet at the North and at South there are those who ignore every mode of settlement but the stern unreasoning arbitrament of arms.

Unfortunately we have suffered ourselves to be persuaded that LINCOLN is the North. We have accepted Mr. SEWARD's theory of the contest as true. We have ignored the great body of true men who condemn the Administration at Washington with an emphasis as profound as that which we utter against it. We have not responded generally to their overtures; nor seconded with heartiness their efforts to bring about a good understanding between the belligerent States, now rent, bleeding, and shaken with all the terrible enginery of relentless war.

LINCOLN is not the North. * * * * The great object which the South seeks to accomplish should be kept distinctly in view. That object is to establish the right of each State to decide independently its own political system, and to determine for itself the relations which it will hold with other States. In other words, to vindicate the sovereignty of the States.

You will observe that this statement of the object which the South proposes in maintaining the great contest in which she is now engaged, frees us from every complication. It defines our position in lines of light, and eliminates the real issue from every inferior or incidental question.

Our honor is to be vindicated by maintaining the contest until the assumption of the Washington Administration of the right to compel the States to yield obedience to their government is abandoned. The North must see that the war cannot accomplish the ends for which it was undertaken. All christendom condemns it. It is a great crime. It is a stupendous anachronism thrust into the midst of the splendors of the nineteenth century. It obscures the guiding stars of Heaven with its smoke foul as vapors from Stygian deeps. It drives back the shadow upon the world's broad dial many degrees. It throws a portentous eclipse over all the glory of this Continent. Nothing hinders a complete adjustment of all the subjects of dispute with the North, but the war. The patriotic body of resolute men lately assembled at Chicago saw this plainly. The convention denounced the war. An armistice is proposed. A convention of all the States is invited. Their counsels seem to me to be eminently wise. A protracted war will ruin both the North and the South. It will involve both in irretrievable bankruptcy. It will trample beneath the hoofs of its steeds every vestige of liberty. It will construct a colossal despotism upon this continent, set apart for the exhibition of the highest civilization of which the human race is capable. Ichabod may be inscribed on the prostrate monuments of the Republic.

It seems to me plain that we should accept the forum indicated by the Chicago Convention, as the appropriate one for the settlement of our troubles. The very proposal to refer the great quarrel to the arbitrament of a convention, composed of delegates from all the States, is the most emphatic recognition of sovereignty of the States. They would assemble as sovereigns. They would discuss the grounds of difference between them as sovereigns. They would adjust their political relations independently. Closing their deliberations, they would refer the measures they had matured to the people of the several States for final action.

MISCELLANEOUS FACTS.

THE FEELING IN THE COUNTRY.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 19.

Annexed is an extract from a letter dated Madison, Ga., Nov. 7:

"If Gov. BROWN tells the truth in his message, we live under a worse tyranny than was possible in the old Union.

If, by the blessings of Providence, you can once get on the track, and the train started for peace, all the powers in Richmond or Washington cannot stop or throw it off. Show us how to negotiate; point out some leader. Let him be open, frank and fearless, and the people will follow as sure as the sun shines. Let him be a man who can inspire confidence and equal to the task of stopping the madness of these days!"

THE FEELING IN MISSISSIPPI.

From the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel, Nov. 10.

A subscriber of the Chronicle & Sentinel, in a letter speaking of the feeling of the people in that section of the Confederacy, remarks thus:

"We like your position on the subject of a Convention of States for the purpose of settling the unfortunate difficulties in which we are now engaged. The people here are unmistakably in favor of some movement of a diplomatic kind to bring about a peace. They have no hope that President DAVIS and LINCOLN will ever settle it themselves. The people must take the matter in hand, or one or both of the present incumbents in power must pass away from official control before a peace can be effected. Stand up to the fight while we do fight, but speak boldly in favor of whatever course of policy seemeth right, regardless of executive favor or anything else. The people, in my opinion, will be with you. Encourage the peace party at the North. If we ever have peace on honorable terms it will come through their efforts."

AN ADDRESS ON PEACE BY REV. DR. TUCKER.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Rev. Dr. H. H. TUCKER delivered an address on peace, at the Representatives Hall, last night. He proposes that Georgia open negotiations for peace, by issuing an address to the people of the separate States North, and that ambassadors be sent to address the people, and argue the matter with them. His address is in the shape of a letter from Georgia to the State of New-York, in which he reviews the questions at issue, and endeavors to convince New-York that if she succeeds in conquering us it will be by our extermination, which will destroy civil liberty, and reduce the whole country to a despotism. He invites New-York as a sovereign state to interpose between the belligerents, and aid in securing negotiations for peace. To this end he would have a convention of ambassadors—which he assumes that both Governments may be induced to sanction—from each State where some honorable arbitration might be attained. The leading features of his plan are similar to that recommended by the Governor, and embodied by the resolutions now before the House.

TUESDAY, Nov. 29—P. M.

There was another large business at the Stock Exchange and on Wall-street to-day in the Gold-bearing Stocks of the United States. The 6 ℘ cents of 1881 were firmest, selling at 112½@112¾ ℘ cent., including the 1st of January coupon. The business in 5-20's was best in their old issue, the favorite for the European markets. The new issue was ½@1 ℘ cent. lower than the extreme sales of Monday. The 6 ℘ cents of 1867 sold as high as 145 ℘ cent., on the confident assurance that the principal will be paid off three years hence (December, 1867,) in Gold.

The Gold Room was further advanced this morning on the adverse rumor of yesterday, that Gen. THOMAS had retreated before the rebel forces in Middle Tennessee. The figures were stimulated to 236 ℘ cent., but before 2 o'clock the bidding was down to 232½ ℘ cent.—the price of last night—on another and different telegraphic rumor, that HOOD's advance had been repulsed by THOMAS.

The Railway Market at the Stock Exchange was generally stronger than yesterday, the firmest demand being on some of the Western Railroads, and Erie and Reading among the Eastern lines. The business, however, was not very large, and the market not so well supplied by outside orders as to indicate a very strong upward movement for the present. The Miscellaneous Shares were steady.

At the Second Board this afternoon the Government Stocks were firm, and the 1881s and 5-20s in brisk demand. The old 7-30 ℘ cent. Treasury Bonds were done at 116 ℘ cent., which rate closely approximates the current price of the 1881 Stock, into which they are convertible. The sharp legal speculation to force these Notes as Gold upon the Custom-house is understood to make but slow progress.

At the close of dealings the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday afternoon. The Railway Market left off steady. Gold at 3 o'clock about 234 ℘ cent.:

Exchange on London for the Cunard steamer to-morrow is in fair request at 109½@108½ for Gold, and on Paris f5.10@f5.12½ for short sight, in Gold. There is a fair business doing. Most of the settlements are now made in Gold, so far as Bankers' Exchange is employed. Mercantile and transient Bank Bills are sometimes bought and sold at Currency rates, corresponding, as near as may be, with the price of Gold at the moment. The market for Money to-day is very easy at 6@7 ℘ cent. at call.

Barley is in brisk demand and dearer; sales, since our last, 47,000 bushels Canada West at $2@$2 10, the latter rate for very choice; Vermont at $2 02½, ℘ bushel. The movement in Breadstuffs during the past fortnight, Mr. EDWARD BILL reviews thus: The market for Flour continues to be irregular, and fluctuates daily, controlled in a measure by the rates of Gold, the closing of navigation, and other causes. The dullness of the last week was somewhat relieved by a speculative demand, which gave more firmness to the trade. Present prices will not warrant shipments to England, and that branch of the business is much neglected. With the usual free receipts of the season the stock in store is gradually accumulating. At the close yesterday the demand was light, but holders firm. In Wheat the transactions are quite moderate, and chiefly to the city and local millers, with a few sales on speculation. The daily supplies continue light, and as the Erie Canal navigation will positively be closed on the 8th of December, (and probably before, in consequence of a break in the canal,) we cannot have any large additions to the amount in store. Rye has advanced a few cents. Oats are in demand. With a reduced supply of Indian Corn, and an active inquiry, prices are again higher, closing firmly. The Export Clearances from this port for the fortnight foot up to Great Britain and Ireland, 2,292 bbls. Flour, 89,612 bushels Wheat, 6,360 bushels Peas; to Mexico, 100 bbls. Flour, 8,780 bushels Corn, 100 bushels Peas; to Brazil, 7,997 bbls. Flour; to all other ports, 41,814 bbls. Flour, 2,425 bbls. Corn Meal, 2,000 bushels Wheat, 4,203 bushels Corn, 335 bushels Oats, 435 bushels Peas, making a total to all ports of 52,303 bbls. Flour, 2,425 bbls. Corn Meal, 91,612 bushels Wheat, 12,983 bushels Corn, 335 bushels Oats, 6,895 bushels Peas.

The week's business in Petroleum Mr. C. J. TURNER reviews thus: The market during the past week has been irregular. Crude declined to 45c., and was quite heavy, in sympathy with the decline in Gold; but subsequently rallied, and for the past four days has been strong at 46c.@47½c. Refined, in bond, has been quite dull at 67c.@69c., the transactions having been confined, for the most part, to small purchases to complete cargoes. The stocks of both Crude and Refined at the three principal points—Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New-York—have not been so small as at present for the past two years, the stock in New-York alone, at the corresponding date of last year, having been in excess of the total supply now at the three cities combined, and quotations for Refined have, consequently, been in a measure nominal. At the close, however, with an improvement in Gold to 230, the market is more buoyant at 47c.@47½c. for Crude, and 68c.@69c. for Refined in bond. Refined free is active at 86c.@90c., according to quality. The following are the receipts at and exports from New-York, of Petroleum, for the week and since Jan. 1:

ELEGANT VELVET BONNETS FOR 25 DOLLARS.

HIGGINS' ORIGIN OF THE BONNET.

As Love through Olympus was tripping one day,
He stole to where Ceres unconsciously lay,
And robbing her sheaf of its choicest gems,
He tastefully plaited their golden stems;
Then borrowing from Flora the prettiest flowers,
Just such as she bears in her sunniest hours;
He wove them with skill through the glittering corn,
Having previously bathed them in dews of the morn'
Over all them he cast a light gossamer cloud,
Their beauties to heighten and not to enshroud;
"And now to complete it," he joyously sings,
"A piece from the Rainbow I'll have for the strings,"
'Twas done. He flew quickly to Venus' bed,
And placed his bright work on her beautiful head,
So lovely she looked, all the gods stood amazed;
Some smiled, some envied, but all of them praised,
Then Jove, summoning Mercury swift to his side,
"Come, name me this head-dress," he playfully cried,
Puzzled Mercury paused, then placed his hands on it,
Saying: "By Jupiter's mandate, I call thee a Bonnet,
Thus was it that Olympus first witnessed the birth
Of the loveliest gift e'er bestowed upon earth.
Bonnets since then have become quite a passion,
Been remodeled and changed by capricious Fashion;
Through all their varieties one leads the way,
'Tis Higgins of this city for style and display;
A splendid assortment is always on view
At his Mammoth Establishment, Sixth-avenue,
On the number 'tis well your attention to fix,
Bear well then in mind, it is One-Twenty-Six.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

There is nothing later from Gen. SHERMAN, no rebel papers having been received within the past twenty-four hours. The very latest rebel intelligence from either column of Gen. SHERMAN'S army placed Gen. SLOCUM'S column at Greensboro, on the Georgia State Railroad, eighty-four miles west of Augusta, on the 20th; Gen. HOWARD'S column at Toomsboro, on the Georgia Central Railroad, one hundred and forty-five miles from Savannah, on the 22d. Both columns had crossed the Ocomulgee and Oconee Rivers, the two principal streams on the route of the march, and both columns were, at the dates mentioned, fully half way to Savannah, and the announcement of the fall of Augusta may be expected at any hour. ROGER A. PRYOR, the ex-rebel General, who was captured on Sunday while endeavoring to exchange newspapers on the picket line, admits that SHERMAN will, if he has not already, capture Augusta, and that he cannot meet any serious resistance in his march to the coast.

The latest intelligence from Tennessee reports that HOOD made an assault on our works at Columbia, south of Duck River, on Saturday, and was badly repulsed. A small portion of the rebel cavalry have succeeded in crossing Duck River. HOOD had made other developments of his plans, but thus far he has accomplished nothing further than conscripting some of his rebel friends. There is no foundation in the rumor of the evacuation of Johnsonville, except a proper preparation for possible contingencies.

The Memphis Bulletin of the 22d gives the particulars of the arrest, by the military authorities, of a large number of rebel cotton-sellers in that city. It says: "They were from nearly all portions of Tennessee and Mississippi, and were here to sell cotton, under the impression that they would be allowed to take back one-third of the proceeds in supplies and two-thirds in greenbacks. A report to this effect had been circulated throughout rebeldom, and the way butternuts and graybacks came into Memphis with their cotton was a caution. On Sunday morning, nearly every wagon-yard in town was full of them. Satisfied that so many able-bodied men could not live in the Confederacy without being identified with the rebel army, the Commanding General ordered the arrest of every countryman in town. The authorities were right. It was found that a majority were rebel soldiers, and among them were one or two officers. Many had furloughs, which they doubtless had obtained with the express purpose of bringing in their cotton."

The rebel Ex-Gen. ROGER A. PRYOR, now a private soldier in the Confederate army, was captured on Friday last by the Fifth Corps pickets of the Army of the Potomac, while attempting to exchange papers with our pickets. This was done in retaliation for the recent capture of Capt. BURBRIDGE by the rebel pickets under similar circumstances. PRYOR says that Gen. LEE issued an order for the return of Capt. BURBRIDGE on Saturday, and he will probably be returned as soon as Capt. BURBRIDGE is sent back. PRYOR has been brought to Washington.

Mrs. SARAH HUTCHINS, of Baltimore, recently convicted of giving aid and comfort to the enemies of her country, is now in Fitchburgh (Mass.) House of Correction, under five years' sentence. She is the woman who presented a sword to the rebel HARRY GILMORE.

The rebels made a small raid on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, on Monday, at New-Creek, Va., which station they captured and burned, but did no other damage. They also attacked Piedmont, but were driven off by a company of the Sixth West Virginia Regiment.

GENERAL NEWS.

The market for Government Stocks continued active at the Stock Exchange and on Wall-street yesterday, and closed firm. The Railways left off steady. The Gold Room advanced to 236 ℔ cent., then fell back to 232½, and again rose to 234 ℔ cent. Money easy.

Transactions in Produce and Merchandise yesterday, were on a more extensive scale, the rise in Gold having stimulated the demand, especially from speculative buyers. Prices, however, were very irregular. Freights were quiet.

The Kingston (Canada) News of Nov. 16 says: "It is probable that a Government measure will be introduced into Parliament, immediately on its assembling in January next, for the purpose of preventing, by more stringent enactments, any repetition of the St. Alban's raid. There need be no doubt that the Government entertains the general view of the public, that we must do everything to avoid any violation of the comity of nations; and that if Confederate refugees will not respect our hospitality and the asylum afforded them, we must do something which will cause them to yield a respect which they are bound in honor to observe. If there should be no necessity, in the meantime, to issue an order-in-council, the proceedings by bill will have the merit that the measure will be submitted indirectly to the people."

The Live Stock markets are supplied this week with 6,597 beef cattle, 98 milch cows, 1,814 calves, 21,351 sheep and lambs, and 22,479 swine, a total of 52,339 animals. The transactions at the Forty-fourth-street market have been dull, but prices on the best quality of stock are sustained. The lowest grades of cattle were sold at some decline. The receipts have been several hundred less than last week, but adequate to the wants of butchers. The mild weather has been against holders. Good beeves have sold at 16c.@18c. ℔ ℔., for the estimated dressed weight; a few choice ones were estimated at 19c.; medium at 13c.@15c., and the inferior grades down to 8c., if not lower. Sheep on Monday were worth 7½c. ℔ ℔., live weight, for good fair quality stock, and really good sheep should have brought 8c. On Tuesday the market was firmer. Good lambs sell at about 9½c. ℔ ℔., live weight. Swine have not arrived in as large numbers as last week, but prices of the best kinds are a little lower, ranging from 11½c.@12⅝c. ℔ ℔., live weight; 14⅝c.@15½c. dressed.

Capt. ROBERT F. WILKINSON, attached to Gen. EMORY'S Staff and a resident of Poughkeepsie, who was wounded on the 19th of September in the Shenandoah Valley, has reached his home. His wounds are severe, one ball having passed through the right arm into the right lung, and another through the abdomen; but there is now every prospect of his early recovery.

The Louisville Journal of Saturday says: "Gen. BURBRIDGE has reached Cumberland Gap with his force. He moved with great dispatch from Lexington, and the rebels under BRECKINRIDGE are now confronted by a formidable army. Cumberland Gap is safe, and as long as it is held, BRECKINRIDGE will be prevented from invading Kentucky from that quarter. He will scarcely venture to attack our troops now, protected, as they are, by such strong works. If the rebels should attempt to retreat, it is presumed that BURBRIDGE will advance to harass their rear."

Some of the correspondents of the rebel press have a nice notion of humor after all. A specimen cropped out recently on the occasion of the receipt of a supply of artillery for JUBAL EARLY, who found himself one morning rather short of that article, just after he had been getting a new outfit. When the last lot of new guns came along they were found to be labeled "Lieut.-Gen. EARLY." But some fellow who had an eye to the fitness of things, prefixed to the cards "Major-Gen. SHERIDAN, in care of ——." So that they read "Major-Gen. SHERIDAN, care of Lieut.-Gen. EARLY."

Maj. FRANK S. BOND, who has long been senior Aid-de-Camp on the staff of Maj.-Gen. ROSECRANS, has resigned his commission.

The Hartford Courant publishes the official vote for President, as follows: LINCOLN, 44,591; MCCLELLAN, 42,285. Majority for LINCOLN, 2,306.

The Milwaukee Sentinel states that in round numbers the aggregate Union majority in Wisconsin on the home vote is 7,500. On the soldiers' vote it is over 9,500—in all a little over 17,000.

It is stated that Mr. GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN has received the appointment of Engineer-in-Chief of the Morris and Essex Railroad in New-Jersey, with a salary of $25,000 per annum.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday. Resolutions by Supervisor TWEED were adopted, authorizing the Mayor to offer a reward of $5,000 to be paid from the County Treasury, for the arrest and conviction of the incendiaries who recently set fire to the hotels, and empowering the Police Commission hereafter to use any surplus funds under their control as a "secret service fund" for the apprehension "of criminals or others endangering the public safety." A resolution was also adopted, by request of the Comptroller, transferring the unexpended balance of the Substitute and Relief Fund ($33,788 47) and of the first Soldiers' Bounty Fund ($616,472,02, or a total of $650,260 49) to the present Bounty Fund, ("No. 2.") The Comptroller sent in a detailed statement of the action on riot claims up to date. Of the original number of claims (2,354) there remain to be acted upon 383; 1,971 have been acted upon, of which 1,596 have been allowed at an aggregate sum of $1,200,609 33, and 395 have been rejected. The unsettled claims amount to about $400,000. The claims acted on were for $1,316,016 95; the Supervisors allowed $1,033,390 62—a saving of $282,696 43; and the Comptroller effected a further saving of $69,341 23. The board adopted resolutions complimentary to the Comptroller for his handsome management of this delicate business, and adjourned to 3 P. M. on Monday next.

Four hundred refugees from Georgia arrived in Cincinnati Saturday morning. More than half of this party is made up of children, and the whole are in a very destitute condition.

The Binghamton Daily Republican, of the 28th, apologizes to its readers for not printing the news of the morning, on the ground that it was impossible to read the dispatches.

The Great Problem and its Solution—Hancock's New Army Corps.

The formation of the new Veteran Army Corps, to consist, when completed, of twenty thousand men, and to be placed under command of the gallant HANCOCK, indicates the purpose of the Government to stimulate volunteering during the Winter by every possible means. The constant drain upon our armies by the casualties of battle, by disease and by the expiration of terms of enlistment, demands constant additions to the forces in the field.

Now that the people of the North have pronounced so strongly, by the reëlection of Mr. LINCOLN, for the prosecution of war against the rebellious South, until it is brought completely and forever under the supreme control of the Government, it is well worth while to consider how the contest can be brought most speedily and decidedly to a triumphant close. For there is hereafter to be no thought of weak compromise—no question of armistice or submission—only unmitigated and unqualified hostility to the rebel South, until, through war, peace shall again prevail. Our Generals say it can be done, and the army, by its almost unanimous vote, affirms the opinion. The people declare it shall be done.

Are our armies strong enough to accomplish the end?

The Summer battles in Virginia were, for both sides, among the most destructive of history. It has been a supreme error to suppose that this campaign was commenced with greatly preponderating forces on our side. Notwithstanding the hopeful and popular belief, the armies of MEADE and LEE have not been far from evenly matched, even in point of numbers. Somewhere about 90,000 infantry crossed the Rapidan—they were confronted by a rebel force of 80,000 to 85,000. BUTLER ascended the James with 35,000—he was met by an equal, if not even superior force.

GRANT'S policy, the offensive, the only true, manly and military policy of the preëminently powerful North, compels the enemy everywhere to the defensive. Wherever we move, we find a vigorous foe, strongly intrenched or protected by lines of rapidly constructed breastworks, and defended by men who handle the rifle as well as the axe and the spade. The advantages derived from this general defensive system (to which the South as the weaker power, is more and more surely, day by day, compelled to adhere), has really far more than doubled her effective and actual strength. All know and realize now how a few determined men, well posted, can successfully resist the attack of superior numbers; history is filled with the glory of heroic acts under such circumstances, and Allatoona is the latest name that has been inscribed on the lasting record of such heroism. The position on the James now bears to such cases a striking analogy. With great advantage of place and centrality on the side of the rebels, it will require greatly superior numbers for us to accomplish very decided results. And, in fact, the policy and practice of the Confederacy is to preserve as long as possible that interior position from which the Science of War teaches us so many advantages are to be expected. And so long as our armies are compelled to act exteriorly, we must keep in the field a largely superior force at every point.

Doubtless such has been the design of the Administration. But the Summer's draft, we all know now, was really but little better than a Summer's dream. Instead of pouring a half million into the hands of GRANT, a scant fourth of that number actually took their places with muskets in the ranks—barely sufficient to compensate for the disabilities and casualties of the great campaign.

If this Summer's work has not been thoroughly decisive, it has been solely because decisive forces have not been put into the field. And those forces must be prepared, and the earlier and more effectively, the sooner the war will be brought to a close.

The North and the South are equally desirous that the end should come quickly, but the South has before her, if the war continues, annihilation, while at this moment the North has but awakened to a full sense of its dignity and power, and is but just commencing to put on her strength. It is worse than absurd, it is criminal, to continue the war on anything like equal terms. Our armies are always prompt to fight. But on almost every occasion that a battle has failed in its fruits, it will be found that the fatal cause has been in lack of numbers. If SHERMAN has run a brilliant course this last Summer, his superiority in that respect has been one of the strongest elements of his success. So it has ever been—so it will always be; all other considerations being equal, "victory is with the strongest battalions."

Why should the North compel its armies to struggle on, no matter how gloriously, year after year, on anything like equal terms, when it is abundantly able to end the war at almost any moment? The obvious method of saving the blood of the thousands that are dear to those at home—of averting the sorrows and anguish of the many who, North and South, must lament through a bitter futurity the blood yet to be spilled; of economizing the vast treasure yet to be lavished in support of the strife—is most certainly to place enough men in the field to overcome all opposition. Are the Southrons anywise different from the remainder of humanity? Not at all. The South will submit just as soon as there is no longer a visible chance of success. Hope almost expired with Mr. LINCOLN'S reëlection, and the moral effect of the disappointment cannot be overrated. But a strong force is yet bound together by Southern military despotism, and will continue to fight with passionate desperation so long as hope's delusion can inspire the mind of Southern leaders that a decided victory may yet be won. Such victory they have a right to expect so long as the contending forces are so evenly matched as at present. And we mean not merely a numerical equality, but that there should be considered also the requirements of the actively aggressive policy of the North. Around this rebel force place such numbers as will make its success hopeless, and bloodshed will quickly cease; against such disparity neither Northern nor Southern armies could or would fight.

For every possible reason then, let the end be hastened. Those who owe allegiance to our laws—who have been so proud of the privilege of casting a freeman's vote—who have now willed that the land shall be free, should show that they can hazard something more for a country deserving their blood. Money will not win success in the field, nor will good wishes, nor active sympathies, nor yet votes—only armed men can do that, and it is simply cowardice for the masses of the great North to stand idly by, or to forget the work before her, when every nerve should thrill for a share in the strife. And there should not be a Northern man, in whose veins courses a patriotic freeman's blood, but that should be willing to shoulder his musket and step to the front. Of such stuff was begotten the independence of our country; such alone can make it eternally free.

To end the war we still want men; to procure them there should be prompt measures taken. Operations can go on effectively during the Winter; in the Spring we shall present such a power to the enemy that, if not already disorganized and crumbled by inherent weakness, but a few steady blows will be needed to give a lasting peace to the land, that will be far more joyfully accepted by the South than by the North.

GUNTHER ON EMIGRATION.—GUNTHER'S letter on the horrors of emigration to the United States appears in full in the Breslauer Kreisblatt of Oct. 29. A correspondent writes to us to say that the letter has appeared in nearly every German journal. This may fairly be considered a literary success, even if it is a success achieved by a libel upon the country which has given protection and fortune to the author and his kindred.

Southerners in this City—A Stricter Regimen Required.

The attempt of Southern desperadoes to lay our city in ashes raises, serious questions concerning the tens of thousands of Southern people we have been harboring. Hitherto this crowd has not excited much concern. The forbearance of our community toward them has been in the most marked contrast to the treatment received by Northern men resident in the South. Multitudes of these latter were prevented at the outbreak of the rebellion from coming North, and were forced into the rebel armies to serve a cause they abhorred. No small number of them, who would not turn against their old flag, were lynched to death; their property was all confiscated, and their families were left to starve. The amount of infernal wrong perpetrated upon the Northerners in the Southern States is incalculable.

The Southern people who now throng our Northern cities have mostly come since the rebellion began, unlike the Northerners in the South, who were all there prior to the rebellion, and were afterward kept there in spite of themselves. These Southerners are not a producing portion of our population. They are consumers merely. They add to our rents and to prices of food, without giving the community any equivalent. The only approach to any pursuit they exhibit is bulling the gold market, which is nothing but a public injury. It might have been expected that these people would receive Northern liberality toward them with some degree of outward civility, if not heartfelt gratitude. It is notorious that most of them put no check upon their tongues—that they habitually cast insult without measure upon the Union cause, and openly rejoice in the defeat of its armies. They make their brags and vent their spite without the least regard to the feelings of loyal people about them—in fact, oftentimes take special pains to make themselves as offensive as possible. Were such language used by a Northern man in Richmond against the Confederate authorities or the Confederate cause, as is daily uttered by thousands of Southern people in this city against President LINCOLN and the Union cause, he would be hung upon the spot. Nor do they confine themselvs to mere words. There were thousands of votes thrown in this city at the last election against the Union cause by Southern men, who are as much rebels at heart as any soldier in the Confederate armies. They had perhaps been in the State long enough to give them a legal vote, yet have no permanent interest in the State, and no feeling toward it but that of deadliest malice. Thus the traitors we are sheltering neutralized thousands of loyal votes. Never before was there such governmental tolerance. Were these traitors to get into Gen. GRANT'S lines in some great battle, and, by some means, disarm and disable thousands of loyal soldiers, they would not thereby work so directly against the national cause as in thus overriding thousands of loyal voters. The Presidential election was of immeasurably greater moment to that cause than any battles in the field.

But all this has been borne with patience. Our people have become so accustomed to such rebel outrage on decency, that they have learned to take it almost as a matter of course. But the matter assumes quite another aspect when a portion of these people go so far as to put the midnight torch to our roofs. A moderate abuse of hospitality we can stand, but not to that extent. We can make no allowance for a barbarism so utterly soulless and abandoned as that. The Indian savages of the Far West, we suppose, can torment their helpless prisoners about as horridly and remorselessly as these Southern rebels have tormented our braves who have fallen into their hands. But this attempt to burn down the abodes which have sheltered them when fugitives from their own land, is something so far beyond the savage style—something so peculiarly fiendish—that even Northern magnanimity cannot pass it by. We must protect ourselves against its repetition.

The orders of Gen. DIX are not sufficiently comprehensive. Beside prescribing that these "rebel emissaries and agents," who are discovered in a work of incendiarism, shall be tried by court-martial and executed within twenty-four hours, it directs all persons arriving from the insurgent States to register their names at headquarters. But if this registration is of any account, why does it not apply to the thousands of people from the insurgent States already here? Does anybody doubt that very many of these are just as capable of serving the most atrocious designs of the rebel Government, as any that might hereafter be sent? Is there any reason to suppose that those who engaged in the Friday night work were not Southern men, who had been for months sojourning in this city? The fact is that the name of every man and woman in this city who has come here from any of the insurgent States, since the outbreak of the rebellion, to sojourn, ought to be known to our military and police authorities. The oath of allegiance ought to be demanded from every one of them. Those who refuse to take it should go into the category of "registered enemies," and be kept under strict surveillance.

If this attempt to fire our city should be repeated, or any other Southern complot upon our persons or property should be attempted, the whole tribe of "registered enemies" should be hustled off forthwith, either to the rebel lines, where they belong, or to Canada, where they will be comparatively harmless. Not a single exception should be allowed. Men who will not take the oath of allegiance for the public safety, by the very fact prove themselves inimical to the public, and cease to have any claim, either in the way of right or courtesy, to the public protection. We shall be entitled to assume that they are all involved in any conspiracy against the public safety, and to protect ourselves against them accordingly, in case of another such attempt. We may rely upon it that this attempt would be the last of the kind were it once understood that it could not recur without being followed by the expulsion of every Southern man from this city who had not taken the oath of allegiance. Precious good care would be taken by these traitors in our midst to see that nothing was done by any of their kidney that would cost them so dear. We can secure ourselves from their malice only by operating upon their fears. Considering the vast interests that are exposed to their malice, we should take from these fears the strongest security possible.

The War Its Own Just Avenger.

It is noteworthy that the three States which are more directly responsible than any others, South Carolina excepted, for this rebellion, are the very three which have suffered most severely from its effects. We mean Missouri, Georgia and Virginia.

Missouri was the State which actually laid the train for the war, and kindled its first spark. Its border-ruffian outrages upon Kansas, carried on by its people and countenanced by its State Government, inaugurated a complete disregard of all law as an established policy for the slave power, and opened the way to Southern politicians for a general trampling under of all constitutional restraint. They also had the effect of bringing on the invasion of JOHN BROWN into Virginia, which, more than all else, enabled these Southern politicians to fire the imaginations of the ignorant masses, and to give their revolutionary movement what it had of a popular character. Missouri has dearly paid for all this work. There is scarcely a county in it, outside of St. Louis, that has not, at some time or other, been desolated either by the marches of rebel armies, or by organized bands of guerrillas. Nearly every season for the last three years and a half has brought a new rebel foray for pillage and ravage. Nowhere outside of the large towns has life or property had any security; and in many large districts, an absolute reign of terror has existed and still exists. Missouri has been the principal battle-field west of the Mississippi, since the beginning of the rebellion, and its sufferings have far exceeded those of any other State in that part of the country both in intensity and continuance.

As Missouri paved the way for the rebellion, Georgia was the State which gave it its first solid movement. The original confederation of the Gulf States all depended on the decision of Georgia. In population, in territorial extent and in natural resources, in ambitious and practical enterprise, it exceeded any of them. Its financial system had been managed with peculiar discreetness; its railroads had been very profitable; its attempts at manufacturing had succeeded far better than elsewhere, and every year added immensely to its available capital. Its people had been habitually more moderate in their feelings than those of the other Cotton States, as well as more practical in their objects. In the disunion attempt of 1850, it was the overwhelming majority with which Georgia declared in favor of the Union, that operated as the first and main breakwater against the South Carolina frenzy. In 1860 the Anti-Brenckinridge majority of the State was more than twenty thousand. It was the first impulse of the State to stand out against the secession movement which had been begun by South Carolina and Mississippi. The real conscience and common sense of the State spoke through the lips of ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, in his great speech to the State Legislature, ten days after the Presidential election, wherein he declared that the National Government had done the South no wrong, and that secession from it was entirely unjustifiable. Had Georgia stood firm to that position, the Confederacy must have incontinently perished. But the Empire State of the South, in an evil day, yielded; and then it was that the confederacy of the Cotton States first acquired consistency and compactness, and found itself in a condition to act. Georgia had the fate of the secession movement in her own hands, so far as respected the Cotton States. She proved faithless. She now finds her retribution in being swept by the war as no other Cotton State is. Her whole soil is being blasted by the march of an army she is powerless to resist. When Gen. SHERMAN finishes with her, she will be but a monument of desolation.

The decision which Georgia made for the Gulf States, Virginia made for the Border States. For four months she hesitated, and all the other slaveholding States north of the Gulf tier awaited her action. For a time she showed a purpose to hold to the Union, but soon after the attack on Sumter she gave way, and declared herself out of the Union. North Carolina, Tennessee and Missouri quickly followed, and Kentucky and Maryland were but just saved from the same fatal track. No State in the Union was more sacredly bound to be faithful to it than Virginia. She had most to do with its formation, and her fame was peculiarly interwoven with its history. That South Carolina, with its tory lineage, or Louisiana, of alien origin, should turn against the Union, was not half so criminal and shameful as that old Virginia, the mother of the Presidents, the nurse of WASHINGTON and JEFFERSON and MADISON and PATRICK HENRY, should lend herself to this treason. Her superlative recreancy was speedily followed by her dismemberment in the separation of Western Virginia, and by the marching of the national armies upon her soil, which they have never quit from that hour to this. By our protracted and singular failure to take Richmond, for three years and a half, the State has been a prey to the worst calamities of war. Its existence during that period has been but one prolonged terror and agony. Its boasted first families have been pauperized. Its cavalier young men are, for the most part, rotting in traitors' graves. Thousands of homesteads are deserted, or nothing but charred ruins tell the spot where they were. Broad acres, which once waved with richest harvests, are fast returning to their primitive wildness. Humiliation and woe in every form have gained supreme possession of this once proudest and happiest of the States. No civil community, at least in this New World, has ever suffered such an awful requital of guilt, and the end of it is not yet.

What may be in reserve for the other States which have engaged in this rebellion, we do not undertake to divine. It now seems as if the rebellion would get its quietus, without bringing upon them the full weight of the calamities of war. But whether this prove so or not, it is certain that, thus far, a poetic justice has been realized in the peculiar punishment of the States most peculiarly guilty in this parricidal work. Without any particular design or discrimination to that end, on the part of the National Government, the war has somehow taken a shape and direction that has wrought out just the result that best satisfies a righteous reckoning.

Personal.

Hon. WILLIAM G. MOORHEAD, late President of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, will sail, accompanied by his family, in the steamer for Liverpool, to-day. While Mr. MOORHEAD'S chief object is that rest and relaxation from business cares to be found in foreign travel, he has in view several important financial projects connected with the development of railroad and mining interests in this country, and the formation of such alliances with European skill and capital as will produce the highest results. Mr. MOORHEAD has been concerned in some of the largest and most important business interests in the United States.

He has been a leading spirit in the construction of almost all of the great public works of Pennsylvania, and has contributed largely in means and influence to every enterprise that could advance the interests of that State.

As a partner in the house of JAY COOKE & Co., of Philadelphia, a large share of the labors and responsibilities of negotiating the 5-20 loan, which proved so great a success, devolved upon him. It was through his unwearied exertions, and the strength of public confidence in his ability and integrity, that the immense railroad stretching from Philadelphia to Erie was brought to a triumphant completion, and its thronged passenger cars and packed freight trains are living monuments to his industry and genius.

Public Schools.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

It is to be hoped that the officers of the public schools who are to be selected for the responsible situations as guardians of what constitutes our national pride and our national safety, will be selected from that class of our fellow-citizens who have leisure, and who are possessed of the necessary qualifications to discharge the duties incumbent on these important officers. Politics and political associations should be removed from the schools, and although in our present system it is necessary through the ballot-box to select candidates, men without reference to politics should be the standard of our selection. It is to be hoped that our citizens, without regard to party, will indorse the best representatives of enlightened education, and who are free from corruptions and from political or sectarian prejudices. Military Drill for Boys.

NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1864.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I have been struck by the large and increasing number of military schools in and around the city, which have owed their origin chiefly to the war.

While brave men are battling in the South for the sacred cause of the Union, their sons at home are laying the foundations of such a military education as it would be well for every man in the United States to receive. In a free country like ours, a thorough knowledge of military drill and discipline is one of the most important elements of a citizen's education, and it is well for the rising generation that they have begun to lay the foundation so early in life. Why not encourage this military spirit? It would be an easy matter for all the small schools in the city and suburbs of New-York to form themselves into a regiment, and have a drill, say once a month. It would be a desirable thing for the masters of these schools, as in most cases the number of their pupils is so limited, that they can only be instructed in the company drill, while all of the regimental evolutions remain untaught.

A regiment of boys thus formed would, in due time, become the crack corps of the city, and would even rank with our famous Seventh; for it is a well-known fact that in some of the boy-companies around New-York, the drill is far superior to that in many regular regiments.

Would you kindly devote a little space in the columns of your valuable paper to this, I believe, original idea? R. P. A.

NEW-YORK HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A semi-monthly meeting of this Society was held last evening at Cooper Institute, on which occasion a very learned and interesting address on Botany was delivered by Rev. Dr. JAMES CAMPBELL. Messrs. ASAHEL TAYLOR, of Williamstown, Mass.; ALASON ROGERS, of Warren, Pa., and LEWIS TEMPLIN, of Greenfield, Ohio, each exhibited their different specimens of choice apples, and appeared as contestants for the "Greeley prize" of $100, to be awarded the producer of the best specimen.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—To-night GOUNOD'S popular opera of "Faust" will be given with the same distribution as heretofore. This brief announcement is sure to satisfy a sufficient number of people to fill the Academy.

READINGS.—Miss LATHROP, a lady whose talents have already been recognized, but whose services have been denied to the public for eighteen months in consequence of a severe accident, will give an entertainment of elocution and music at Dr. CHEEVER'S Church, corner of Union-square and Fifteenth-street, to-night. The programme will be found in another column. The lady merits the kindliest consideration of the public, not only for her talents, but for her misfortunes.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERTS.—The subscription list for Mr. THEODORE THOMAS' symphonic soirées is now open at Irving Hall. The first concert takes place on Saturday next, at the same establishment. The series consists of five grand orchestral entertainments. Mr. S. B. MILLS is the soloist of the occasion.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—The admirable qualities of the company at this house are never so pleasantly demonstrated as when an old comedy is revived. It is then that each member of the establishment seems to infuse his own spirit into the part essayed, and to endue it with fresh life and spirit. The task is not often an easy one. Many of the old comedies are so nigh dead that much evil has been spoken of them. Literature is the only thing that is not flattered when it descends in the tomb. To fish it up from the dreary abyss in which it festers, and to make it so presentable that it gives not offence to the nostrils, this is surely an office of no ordinary daring, and it is exactly what is done at WALLACK'S with unvarying success. Mrs. INCHBALD has just been brought to light in a highly satisfactory way. The feat was performed on Monday evening when the comedy of "To Marry or Not to Marry" was offered to the public. Excision and purification have been practiced in a wholesale manner, and with charming effect. It would be impossible to "cut" anything more, with the exception of Sir Oswin's hair, which, by the way, sorely needs cutting. Half a dozen characters are retained, and it is their personal history that interests us. Between them they fight out the great battle of domestic life, and solve—fatally for bachelors—the problem of to marry or not to marry. The quietest warrior, and the only one who goes to work in a natural way, is Hester. Perhaps Mrs. INCHBALD intended to imply that man's objections to matrimony were necessarily artificial, and that the ingenuous and comely young person named could, by the ordinary artillery of her sex, prove them to be so. It is certain that the intellectual quibblers who talk the most are nonentities, impossible personages, and that the young lady is a real marriageable fact, round which White favors, church doors and postillions revolve as a mere matter of course. We cannot imagine such a gloomy student as Sir Oswin devoting himself to the study of a pamphlet and one globe; although being always in the skies, he has perhaps need for the latter if it be of the celestial kind. We cannot understand an uxorious enthusiast, like Mr. Willowear running the gauntlet of the marriables with an impunity that extends to the last scene. With an effort we may justify the existence of Lord Danberry and Miss Sarah Mortland, but Lady Susan Courtly eludes our apprehension, and the sense of necessity. The interest depends clearly on Hester. She is the diamond; the others are the hard metallic points that surround it, and serve a useful purpose in holding it up to the public gaze.

Miss MARY GANNON plays the part we have eulogized. It is almost an impertinence to compliment this true artist, for is she not the only perfect actress on the American stage? Nothing can be more delicious than her coy shrewdness, or amusing than the unconscious adroitness with which she first disarms and then makes captive the obdurate Sir Oswin. The pleasantest remembrances of other parts fail to remove the impression that this is her best personation. It is thoroughly natural, and delightful. Conceived in a happy mood by a woman of talent, it is more than realized by an actress of genius.

And the other characters are generously intrusted to the best members of the company. Mr. LESTER WALLACK is the only gentleman on the stage who could reconcile us to the long ringlets and solitary globe of Sir Oswin. He is gloomy and peculiar, and not very earnest, but in every word and gesture he speaks and acts like a gentleman. If in the upper regions he does somewhat resemble a hearse it is undoubtedly the fault of the period. Seriously Mr. LESTER's performance was second only to Miss GANNON's. Mr. FISHER played with a great deal of loose vivacity, and rattled through his part like a matrimonial auctioneer. Mrs. VERNON and Mr. GILBERT as the old folks, were admirable, and Miss FANNY MORANT did all that was possible with an ungracious part. The comedy was heartily enjoyed by the audience. It is short and brilliant, well put upon the stage, and acted to perfection.

The President Petroleum Company, of PRESIDENT, VENANGO COUNTY, PENN.—The advertisement of complete organization is published on another page, and fully explains the plan of the corporation. It will be seen that the officers and directors are of excellent commercial standing and influence. Very liberal advantages are offered to subscribers, and the territory of the company is so ample that there is a very fair prospect of immense returns to the stockholders. It appears that this company has secured on the Alleghany River and favorite tributaries an oil-bearing territory of over ten and a half miles in extent. Immediately adjoining the lands of the President Company, several successful wells have been sunk, and there is strong testimony in favor of a great success for this enterprise. It is intended to form two more companies out of the territory secured by the "President," which will, of course, inure to the benefit of the original stockholders. The subscription agents in New-York, Messrs. L. H. SIMPSON & CO., No. 64 Cedar-st., supply all information as to details that may be desired by subscribers. $100 now paid in secures $500 of the original stock.

The Miseries of Despondency, growing out of a disordered condition of the liver, are hard to bear. They are well described in the phrase: "He looks upon all things with a jaundiced eye." Nothing will relieve the gloomy, despairing feelings engendered by a bilious habit so quickly as that most extraordinary of all antibilious stimulants, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Its operation upon the liver is direct, salutary and powerful.

MOTH AND FRECKLE LOTION.

Chloasma, or Moth Patches, Lentigo or Freckles, blemishes in the face called moth, are very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, as the discolored spots on the face show more strongly on blondes than brunettes; but they contribute greatly in marring the beauty of either; and anything that will effectually remove them without injuring the skin in texture or color, would be considered a great achievement in medical science. Dr. B. C. PERRY, who has made diseases of the skin a specialty, has discovered an infallible remedy for the removal of moth, freckles and other discolorations from the face without injuring the skin in texture or color. BY REV. A. CLEVELAND COXE, D. D.,
Illustrated with Original Designs,
By JOHN A. HOWS.
1 vol. 8vo, 235 pages. Printed on Tinted Paper. 1 vol., Cloth, gilt, $6. Morocco, $9. Morocco Extra, $10.

Extract from the Author's Preface.

"With a sincere gratitude to his Christian brethren, and to his publishers in England and America, he desires to acknowledge the singular and entirely unexpected success which the little book has enjoyed. It has brought him kindly greetings and pleasant letters from the most distant and from some of the most obscure portions of the earth. It has gained him some of the most enviable of friendships. In foreign travel it has opened his way to cottages and to castles; he found it on the shelves of Eton boys and in the rooms of grave fellows of the universities. In Ireland he was presented with a curious series of imitations of Dreamland, some grave and some comical; and to Scotland and Wales he owes some of his happiest recollections in incidents connected with the circulation of the Ballads, in several forms. To Count Tasco, the eminent poet and patriot of Northern Italy, he is indebted for the introduction of several of them to his countrymen, in spirited translations; and the Comte de Montalembert has unwittingly connected a stanza from one of them with a book which will be ever memorable in the history of the French Empire."

"THE QUEEN OF THE COUNTY" IS A novel of the first-class, by the authoress of "Margaret and her Bridesmaids," which has such great popularity in England and with us. Her dedication to her "Sister Writers in America," is a gem. It opens with the heroine's nursery life, introducing with rare power the little incidents and thrilling episodes of "Poor Bell" and the "Trial." "Nurse Alexander and her Dreams," which color and shape her after life. Then comes the introduction into society, her betrothal and marriage, with her trying ordeal as the "Queen of the County." Nothing "sensational" is lugged into it. It's just such a book as every cultivated lady will enjoy and wish her daughter to read. No book leaves behind it pleasanter memories. We prophesy for it a most cordial welcome and a permanent sale. One thick 12mo. volume; price $2. Every New-York bookseller sells it. LORING, Publisher, No. 319 Washington-st., Boston.

ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON.

DR. VONEISENBERG'S NEW INVENTION

FOR THE CURE
OF THE MOST COMPLICATED
DISEASES OF THE ORGANS OF SIGHT,
HEARING,
AS WELL AS CHRONIC CATARRH,
DISEASED THROAT,
AND ANY DISEASE WHERE THE MUCOUS MEMBRANE IS DESTROYED OR IMPAIRED.

As the meaning of the name given by Dr. VON EISENBERG to his new Invention may not be easily comprehended, we (the New-York Evening Express) give the following explanation of its uses for the better understanding of the general sufferer:

ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGCONI

is derived from the Greek word Aisoptikos, which, in its literal acceptation, signifies pertaining to the senses the theory or philosophy of tastes, the science of sensations, or that which explains the cause of mental pain or pleasure. Neuralgicon is a compound of the two Greek words, neuron, a nerve, and logas, a discourse with the sufferecon. The meaning conveyed by the term is, that it is an instrument or machine devised on philosophical principles with a thorough knowledge of the nervous system.

In describing the matter more at length to show its uses, that it might be better understood by the general sufferer, we give a simpler explanation. The nervous system is the source of many diseases.

All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homœopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves, but this does not restore the nerve. It is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. VON EISENBERG not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch, and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system. The great excellence of this æsthetical instrument is, that it can be applied not on guess-work principles, which are no principles at all, but that it can be applied with accuracy and certainty to any nerorve nerves that are weakened or impaired, to the different nerves of motion, or sensation, to the eye, the ear, or the touch, as in paralysis.

To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. VON EISENBERG. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases, and thus be encouraged to proceed until he is discharged thoroughly renovated and cured.

The reader, on perusing what we have here presented him, touching the beauty, complexity, costliness, touching the various uses to which the Aesthetico-Neuralgicon can be applied, may be induced to believe that in the warmth of our commendations we have exceeded the sober truth as to its utility; but we know we have not exceeded the limits of common sense in our description. We care not how prejudiced any one may be against it; he cannot, when it is thoroughly explained to him—and that the inventor is prepared to do at any time to those who call upon him—but be convinced it is all that is claimed for it, namely, the most perfect mechanical contrivance for the exhibition of spiritualized and etherealized medical preparations now in existence. He will even confess, if he be justly minded, that in many respects it is destined to bring about an entire revolution in certain departments of science, and that it is what its inventor, with reason, holds an apparatus that will do more to mitigate human suffering than anything that, in all the past to this time, has been afforded to the world.—New-York Evening Express, Sept. 28, 1864.

NEW TESTIMONIALS.

Catarrh Cured.

LINCOLN HOSPITAL, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.

I have been for several years past afflicted with chronic dry catarrh, which a year ago became so bad that my hearing threatened to leave me altogether. My throat became greatly affected. There was a constant roaring in my head, which, with the other symptoms, was always greatly aggravated by the slightest "cold." Dr. Von Eisenberg commenced treating me a year ago, and has continued to treat me at long intervals since. I am happy to state that the treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg has produced a constant improvement, so that my hearing is almost perfectly restored. My nostrils are free from inflammation, and my general health is so much improved that I look for its permanent restoration, and that speedily, as a fixed fact. I do cheerfully recommend all persons suffering from catarrhal affections to apply to Dr. Von Eisenberg for treatment, feeling assured that with proper opportunity he will effect a cure.

JAMES T. FERRIE, Captain U. S. A.

I was completely deaf for several years, and hearing of Dr. Von Eisenberg's great reputation in restoring the hearing, I called on him, and in one operation, to my great astonishment and excessive pleasure, I now hear perfectly well. I came into the Doctor perfectly deaf, and hear as I never expected to do. This skill is unrivaled.

CHARLES CHAPPELL,
Washington Market.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 6, 1864.

AN EXTRAORDINARY RESTORATION OF SIGHT.

I, LAWRENCE GRENNA, of No. 188 East 36th-st., New-York City, have been suffering from blindness of the left eye for a considerable period. The eye was continually in a state of great inflammation, from which the good eye became affected, and, indeed, my general health was greatly injured by it. Hearing of Dr. Von Eisenberg's great reputation, and as everyone said mine was a hopeless case, I called on the Doctor, who, after examining me, undertook my case, and within a fortnight I found myself almost completely cured. It is now a month since I placed myself under Dr. Von Eisenberg's treatment. I am happy to be able to state that the inflammation is entirely gone, so that I see perfectly with both eyes, added to which I am in good health, a blessing I have not enjoyed since I was blind. I do conscientiously and gratefully swear to the above statement, in a Court of Justice at the City Hall of the City of New-York, the 10th day of October, 1864.

LAWRENCE GRENNA.

Sworn before me this 10th day of October, 1864.
C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.
{ The Grand Seal of the New-York Mayoralty. }

Dr. VON EISENBERG may be consulted on the diseases of the eye and ear, and for catarrh, at the office, No. 816 Broadway, New-York.

THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON is now on exhibition at Dr. VON EISENBERG'S Consulting Rooms, No. 816 BROADWAY, near 12th-st.

MEDICAL.

A BLESSING TO EVERY WOMAN.

The only specific known to be always safe, healthy and certain for removing obstructions or irregularities of nature, from whatever cause, and bring on the monthly sickness, is the wonderful and infallible
PORTUGUESE FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS.
Price $3 and $5. Sold by Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, sole agent for the United States, office No. 129 Liberty-st., or sent by return mail in letter envelopes.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 61 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

CAUTION TO MARRIED AND SINGLE LADIES.—DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, deems it his duty to caution ladies, that his scientific mode of treatment in all cases of irregularity or suppression, is the only one at once healthy and certain in all cases, however complicated. He is consulted with the strictest confidence.

DR. A. M. MAURICEAU is the author of "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health and circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family; a perusal of which will convince any lady of his thorough knowledge of her complaints. Every lady who has it is secure from danger and imposition. Price $1. Sold at No. 1 Vesey-st., No. 18 Ann-st.; also, at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., or sent by mail, by addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS have been a Standard Remedy for over thirty years, and are the most effectual one ever known for all complaints peculiar to females. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing with certainty periodical regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent physicians in America.

Explicit directions, stating when they should not be used, with each box—the price $1 per box, or six boxes for $5, containing from fifty to sixty pills.

Pills sent by mail promptly, secure from observation, by remitting to the Proprietors. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS GENERALLY
HUTCHINGS & HILLYER, Proprietors.
81 Cedar-st., New-York.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL CONSULTATIONS.—Dr. R. COBBETT can be consulted with the most honorable confidence on private diseases at his conveniently-arranged suite of offices, No. 20 Centre-st., between Chambers and Reade sts., having a private entrance at No. 6 City Hall-place. From Dr. C. being one of the oldest, and probably the only qualified physician and surgeon in this City who makes diseases of the genitourinary organs a specialty, he is thus enabled to guarantee speedy and permanent cures, or make no charge. Strictures of the urethra, seminal weakness nervous and general debility treated on the most scientific principles. N. B.—See Dr. C.'s diploma, in his office, as member of the New-York University Medical College, and College of Surgeons, London. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8½ P. M.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY BE confidently consulted on all diseases of a private nature. A practice of 30 years, devoted to the treatment and cure of Syphilitic, Mercurial and diseases of a delicate nature, enables Dr. C. to make speedy and permanent cures, no matter of how long standing the case may be. Strictures of the urethra and seminal weakness, brought on by a secret habit, effectually cured. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured or no charge made.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 61 Franklin-st., between Broadway and Elm-st., New-York.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES, who require a safe and certain remedy for removing obstructions, from whatever cause. Can rely upon the celebrated INFALLIBLE FRENCH FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS. No. 1, price $1 a box, to restore the monthly sickness in forty-eight hours, if of short standing; but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy, price $5 a box. Sold at No. 127½ Liberty-st., and 162 Chambers-st., or sent by mail, with full instructions; address Box 2,359 N. Y. P. O.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr. POWERS, 61 Franklin-st., N. Y.

WIDE WORLD FAMED TRIESEMAR.—Protected by Patent Seals and European Diplomas. Triesemar No. 1 invigorates shattered constitutions, intemperance, inordinate indulgencies of delusive habits. Dr. H. A. BARROW, No. 194 Bleecker-st., between Macdougal-st. and Cottage Buildings, N. Y.

HUNDREDS ARE RUINED BEYOND REDEMPTION in this life by not calling on Dr. HUNTER at first; he has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has cured no less than fifty thousand cases. His remedies are mild and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery known as Dr. Hunter's Red Drops, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, and possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. One dollar will secure by return mail his medical work, 300 pages, 40 colored pictures. Worth all the others put together.

Mr. Stuart begs to announce that on this evening, and until further notice, Mr. Edwin Booth will appear in his great role of "Hamlet," [illegible] which he is universally acknowledged, in the language of the Daily Times "to have no living equal." This is the first of a series of representations to be produced under Mr. Booth's immediate direction, in which the effort will be made to present Shakespeare's dramas in a style combining splendor of production with entire historical correctness. Hamlet has been in active preparation for upward of three months under the stage management of Mr. J. G. Hanly, and no expense or labor has been spared in the endeavor to secure the most perfect arrangement of the ordinary stage resources, [illegible] fidelity, appropriateness and superior execution of the several means of scenic illusion to carry out the spirit of the play in the most minute details, and thus to advance the drama as a branch of national literature and art.

The scenery, music, costumes, properties and machinery are entirely new, and to secure a perfect completeness to the cast, engagements have been made with MRS. J. W. WALLACK, JR.,
one of the most gifted actresses who ever graced the stage; MR. EDWIN VARREY,
MR. CHARLES KEMBLE MASON,
and the eminent comedian,
MR. THOMAS PLACIDE,
who will appear each evening in conjunction with Messrs. F. S. Chanfrau, Chester, Mosse, G. H. Andrews, C. Walcot, J. G. Hanley, E. Eberle, C. W. Chester, O. S. Fawcett, Duell, Burroughs, Burgess, &c.

[illegible] to find such confirmation of the faith in the enduring power of Shakespeare's works and such cheering encouragement [illegible] that their production will never be unappreciated in New-York, as has been furnished by the enthusiasm with which the play of Hamlet [illegible] has been witnessed by the most crowded and brilliant audiences ever gathered in this Theatre, and [illegible] encouragement and approbation extended by the press.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—In reply to the many letters received and the many suggestions offered as to the hour of commencing Hamlet, Mr. Stuart, in the desire to meet as far as possible the wishes of the public, begs to announce that from this date the hour of opening the Theatre will be 6¾. The orchestra will be rung in at twenty minutes past seven, and the performance will begin precisely at half-past seven; the play will terminate at 10½ o'clock, in time to accommodate parties living on the Hudson River Railroad and the suburbs of the City.

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK's constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SON
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

Our Swedish Naval Visitor.

The Swedish steam frigate Vanadis, Capt. Melander, arrived at this port late on Monday evening, and anchored, having been 35 days from Plymouth, England. She comes over here on a tour of inspection and to give her officers an opportunity to see some of the scenes of the present war. Sweden has taken much interest in our naval affairs, and has for a long time had a resident naval officer, Count Rosen, in our midst, who has carefully noted all events as they transpired, and forwarded them to his Government at home. He visited all our navy-yards, arsenals, ship-yards, was present at the trial trips of iron-clads, and even made a passage in one of them from New-York to Fortress Monroe. The little corvette Gefle brought the Count to our shores, and after a brief stay, returned home. We now have the Vanadis with us. Yesterday morning she hoisted the American flag at her fore and saluted it and Admiral Paulding at about 9 o'clock, and immediately after the Vanadis ceased firing, the naval battery at the Navy-yard returned the salute gun for gun, the royal Swedish ensign being displayed from the fore truck of the North Carolina, Capt. J. P. McKinstry. In due time the Swedish officers will pay an official visit to Admiral Paulding, and be tendered the hospitalities of the station.

Navy-Yard Items of Yesterday.

The ordnance supply steamer Queen, Acting-Master R. Tarr, sailed for the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron Headquarters yesterday.

—The side-wheel gunboat Pontusuc was placed in the dry dock.

—The Hybiscus and Pontusuc will be put in commission toward the close of the week.

—The bark Gemsbok is being prepared for sea as rapidly as possible; her spars are all in, and the caulkers are at work at her top sides. She is intended for a store-ship in the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

Miscellaneous Items.

Supply Steamer for the East Gulf Squadron.—The U. S. supply steamer Union, Act.-Vol. Lieutenant Edward Conroy commanding, will sail for the East Gulf Squadron on or about the 10th of December. This will probably be the last opportunity by which persons having friends in that squadron will be able to send the expected Christmas and New-Years' gifts. Parcels and packages left at Osgood's Bureau, No. 2 Dey-street, will be forwarded by this steamer.

Important Order to Naval Officers.—An officer of a ship at the Brooklyn Navy-yard has been severely reprimanded for allowing an enlisted man to remain on shore for a longer time than the law or custom allows. Orders have now been issued "that no enlisted man shall be granted permission to leave his vessel by any other than the commanding officer of such vessel; and that in the absence of the commanding officer no leave shall be given to an enlisted man unless specially directed in writing by the commanding officer, and the names of such as are to receive such leave given under his signature before absenting himself from his command."

Arrival of the Sagamore at Philadelphia.—The United States gunboat Sagamore, arrived at the Philadelphia Navy-yard on Saturday, from Key-West. She has been in commission for the past three years. She was built at Boston by A. & G. Sampson, and the engines were built by the Atlantic Iron Works of the same place. She has captured and destroyed thirty-one vessels during the term of her cruise. The following is a list of her officers: Lieut.-Commander, C. E. Fleming; Acting-Assistant Paymaster, F. F. Wood; Acting-Assistant Surgeon, P. C. Whidden; Acting Ensigns, C. N. Hicks, Chris. Craven, Norman McLeod; Second Assistant Engineers, H. W. Scott, H. Holmes; Third Assistant Engineers, L. Benard, F. M. Ashton, W. E. Sibley; Captain's Clerk, C. G. Fleming; Paymaster's Clerk, F. G. Kidder; Acting Master's Mate, E. Walton.

Philadelphia Navy-Yard Frauds.—Wm. Harris, sailor boarding-house keeper; Geo. Gillingham, storekeeper's clerk; Antoine Ailes, superintendent of cartmen; Jos. Rover, master plumber; —— Pascoe, Edward Simpson, master caulker; Jos. Battins, superintending stores, and Jos. Saulane, paymaster's clerk, United States steamer Princeton, have been arrested by order of Commodore Hull, at the Philadelphia Navy-yard, for defrauding the Government out of from one to two hundred thousand dollars' worth of goods. A board of officers are now engaged in examining into the matter, which promises to be one of the most stupendous of the kind yet brought to light.

Our Representative on the Lakes.—As a number of changes have recently taken place in the personnel of the Michigan, we give below a correct list of her officers up to date: Lieut.-Commander, F. A. Rowe; Surgeon, Wm. M. Wood; Acting Assistant Paymaster, Tracy Cort; Acting Master, W. L. Babcock; Acting Ensigns, Chas. C. Eddy, Wm. A. Smith, Alex. Hansen; Acting Third Assistant Engineers, Bennet Jones, Robert Reilley, Charles Price; Acting Gunner, John Murray; Carpenter, G. W. Elliot; Captain's Clerk, F. W. Roe; Paymaster's Clerk, John J. Odell; Yeoman, R. Gregory; Surgeon's Steward, Charles Justice.

Arctic Expeditions.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM CAPT. C. F. HALL, THE EXPLORER.

The numerous friends of Capt. Chas. Francis Hall, the American Arctic Explorer, have anxiously waited to hear from him since his departure from Newfoundland, and as the season is so far advanced, it is barely possible that he will not be heard from until some ten months pass away. The following letter from the owner of the vessel in which he took passage to the icy regions will be found of interest:

New-London, Saturday, Nov. 26, 1864.

R. S. Osben, Esq., New-York:

Dear Sir: * * * The last I heard of Mr. Hall and party was about August 27, bound up "Rowe's Welcome," in the schooner Helen F., tender to the Monticello. The vessels from Hudson's Bay are all in for this year. No further tidings are expected until September or October next. The Monticello will winter at Two Brothers' Bay, just north of Chesterfield Inlet, and the schooner at Marble Island, probably. I think it quite strange that no late letters were received from Mr. Hall. Three vessels have arrived in New-Bedford since my brig got in. I think, however, that Hall was farther north than they, and the schooner he went in had not come down when they left. Yours, truly,

RICHARD H. CHAPELL."

Henry Grinnell, Esq., of this city, has received a letter from Hannah, (Tukilitoo,) in which she says that Capt. Hall had engaged an additional guide, and that Joe, (Ebeirping,) has recovered his health, and that the whole party were in first-rate health and spirits. Possibly we may hear of Capt. Hall's movements by the way of England,—but this is only a bare chance.

Society for the Advancement of Science.—In accordance with a call issued some days since, a number of prominent gentlemen met last evening, at Cooper Institute, for the purpose of forming, in New-York, a society for the advancement of science. On motion, Dr. Driscom was elected President. A number of well-known scientific gentlemen stated their views as to what such a society should be, and what should be its aims and objects, after which, on motion, a committee of seven was ordered to be appointed by the chair to draw up and submit a constitution; and the committee were also instructed to confer with the trustees of Cooper Institute. After some routine business the committee adjourned.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The County Volunteer Committee—Plenty of Substitutes on Hand—Principals Wanted.

The County Volunteer Committee do a thriving business now, averaging between recruits and substitutes thirty men a day. Owing to the extra bounty, cash in hand, most of the men offering prefer to go as substitutes instead of enlisting as recruits, and Mr. Blunt is therefore in a condition to supply substitutes and representative recruits to all applicants on the shortest notice. In fact, any gentleman who dreads a draft or who patriotically desires to be represented in the army, can be accommodated in ten minutes after he deposits his money. The terms are very easy: $220 for a one-year man, $430 for a two-year man, $650 for three years. The advantages are exemption from the draft to the individual depositing credits to the county which may save it from any call in the future conscription should there be any, and last, but not least, the patriotic inducement of filling up our armies. There never will be a better opportunity than the present to procure substitutes and recruits to fill up the army and to save the city from even the remotest danger of a draft. Walk up to Mr. Blunt's office in the Park, deposit your money and receive your exemption papers on the spot. Every one will be received there with politeness. No substitute brokers will annoy applicants, and exemption can be purchased at the cheapest rate.

Arrest of Two More of the Hotel Incendiaries.

Yesterday the Detective Police succeeded in taking into custody two more young men on the charge of having been concerned in the late attempt to burn the New-York hotels. As in the previous arrests, it is not thought proper by the authorities to give publicity to the names of these men, or, for the present, to say anything respecting the facts and circumstances which connect them with the atrocious crime of attempting to burn the city on Friday evening last. Thus far, each one of the persons who has been taken into custody on suspicion of having been connected with the plot, has been found, on examination, to have been in league with one or more others who are still at large. Hence the public will see the necessity of the Police keeping their names, and the evidence tending to implicate them, quiet for a few days. The young men arrested yesterday are known to be Southerners heartily in sympathy with the rebellion, and for several weeks past they have been suspected and closely watched by some of our vigilant detectives. They were not registered at the headquarters of Gen. Dix, and from all that can be learned, it would seem that very strong and convincing evidence will soon be produced to show that these young men are two of the prominent actors in the drama of Friday night last. Their arrest was effected, after much effort, by John Young, chief of the detective force, assisted by Messrs. Bennett and McDougall. It is their belief that within the next twenty-four hours, several others of the most prominent actors in the plot will be in custody.

Riot Claims—Statement of the Comptroller.

City of New-York, Department of Finance,
Comptroller's Office, Nov. 29, 1864.

Gentlemen of the Board of Supervisors of the County of New-York:

I transmit to you herewith a statement showing the action of this Department, to date, in the settlement of Riot Claims.

The whole number of claims presented for settlement, and transmitted to your Board, was 2,354, and the amount claimed about $2,250,000; of this number your Board have acted on 1,971, of which 1,596 were allowed at the aggregate sum of $1,200,609 33, and 375 claims rejected, leaving 383 claims yet to be acted upon. Of the 1,596 claims allowed by your Board, I have adjusted and paid 1,204, the original amount of said 1,204 claims being $1,316,086 95, and the amount allowed by your Board $1,033,390 52, being a reduction from the original claims of $282,696 43. On a further examination of the 1,204 claims which I have adjusted, I considered it fair in a number of cases, as between the county and claimants, to make a further reduction as detailed in the annexed statement. Those further reductions amount to the sum of $69,341 23. In nearly all of the 1,204 claims which I have adjusted, suits had been commenced, and in some of the cases judgment recovered against the city. On adjustment of those claims, the claimants have, in every case, paid their own law expenses. In the cases where judgments have been recovered, the claimants have accepted less than the amount of the judgment. Of the 392 claims passed by your Board, and not yet paid, I find, on examination, that it is in a number of cases doubtful if the county is liable, and have accordingly declined payment until satisfactory proof of the loss is given.

Under dates Nov. 24, Dec. 16 and 29, 1863, your board passed resolutions directing the payment of certain Militia Regiments for services rendered during and subsequent to the riots. The aggregate amount directed to be paid under those resolutions was $279,630 92. On a careful examination of the pay-rolls of each regiment, I have ascertained that the amount due and payable to the various regiments under said resolutions was only $276,989 33, being a saving to the county of $2,641 59.

Under date of Sept. 16, 1863, your board directed the payment of $9,000 to Special Policemen for services rendered during the riots. I have caused each Special Policeman to be sworn as to the period of service rendered by him, and find the result to be that $6,000 will pay for the service, being a saving of $3,000 to the county.

The total payments to date on Riot Claim Account are as follows:

For settlement of Riot Claims	$964,049 29
For payment of Militia, Special Policemen, Advertising, Rations for Militia, &c., &c	380,678 93
Being a total of	$1,344,728 22

The claims not yet adjusted will probably amount to $400,000. Respectfully submitted,

MATTHEW T. BRENNAN, Comptroller.

RECAPITULATION.

Original amount of claimants	$1,316,096 95
Amount awarded by the Board of Supervisors	1,033,390 52
Saved to the county by the Board of Supervisors	$282,696 43
Amount awarded by the Board of Supervisors	$1,033,390 52
Amount paid by the Comptroller	964,049 29
Additional saved to the county by the Comptroller on settlement of Riot claims	$69,341 29
Amount saved to the county by the Comptroller on settlement of Militia services	2,641 59
Amount saved to the county by the Comptroller on settlement with Special Police	3,000 00
Total	$74,982 82

JAMES WATSON, County Auditor.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

Citizens' Association.—Last evening the council and various boards of the Citizens' Association met in their rooms, No. 813 Broadway, to hear an explanation of the operations of the Association, and an account of what had been done toward the improvement of the Municipal Government. Among the distinguished gentlemen present there were Hon. D. Strong, Rev. Dr. Jervis, Chancellor of the University of New-York; Dr. W. Nicar, of Columbia College; Nathaniel Sands, Esq., J. Sturges, Esq., R. B. Roosevelt, Esq., Charles O'Conor, Esq., and others. The meeting having been called to order, Jonathan Sturges was chosen Chairman. R. B. Roosevelt acted as Secretary. An interesting and elaborate report was read by Mr. Roosevelt, which embraced the various proceedings of the association since its commencement, the establishment of a Sanitary Bureau, together with subjects for sanitary inquiry, all bearing on the health of the city. The meeting was then addressed by Dr. Thompson, Secretary of the Sanitary Bureau, who explained in a very lucid manner the several steps adopted in obtaining the sanitary reports of the present state of the city. In the course of his remarks, Dr. Thompson paid a just and well-merited compliment to the various medical gentlemen throughout the city, who had voluntarily engaged in the work of visiting the localities of the city where sickness most prevailed, and supplying the councils of the association with valuable information, particularly as to tenement houses, the number of families therein and space allotted to each, and other subjects for sanitary inquiry. In the course of his remarks, the Doctor exhibited to the meeting a carefully prepared sanitary map of the City, showing where sickness and mortality most prevailed. The Doctor concluded his interesting address amid great applause. Dr. Smith in a few remarks pointed out to the meeting the great labors of the association, alluding to the fearful death-rate of the city, and the necessity of active measures being adopted in checking the ravages of the disease. Gen. Viele, in a few remarks, explained what had been done in the Engineer Department of the association. After which, Nathaniel Sands, Esq., stated that a mass meeting of the association would be held at the Cooper Institute on Thursday evening, and called on all to support the nominations of the association. The meeting then adjourned.

Accident on the Flushing Railroad.—Yesterday afternoon, about half-past 5 o'clock, a serious and perhaps fatal accident occurred on the Flushing Railroad, at Newtown Creek. It appears that the 5 o'clock train from Flushing was coming to this city, and it being very dark, the locomotive was on the bridge before the engineer discovered that the chain was up. As soon as the engineer discovered that the train must plunge into the water, he reversed the engine, and jumped for safety. He struck the bridge, but the concussion was such as to seriously injure him internally. The fireman also leaped from the engine, but struck the water and swam ashore. There were about one hundred and fifty passengers aboard the train at the time of the accident. The locomotive and tender were both precipitated into the water. The smoking-car went about half way across the bridge, but was stopped by striking the tender. There were about fifteen persons in the smoking-car, mostly laborers on the road. They all, with the brakeman, were thrown into the water, but whether any lives were lost it has not been ascertained. The passengers in the other cars were considerably jostled and alarmed, but none of them seriously injured.

Appeal for Aid.—In the burning of Chambersburgh, Pa., by the rebels, the printing establishment of the German Reformed Church was entirely destroyed, involving a loss of $43,000, and causing the temporary suspension of the publishing operations of the Church. The Synod, at a recent meeting, resolved to locate their publishing business in Philadelphia, and to raise a fund of $60,000 for this purpose. As their misfortune was caused by the depredations of a common enemy, they appeal to the public to assist them. Contributions may be sent either to Charles Santee, No. 239 North Third-street, or to Charles Wannemacher, No. 110 Walnut-street, Philadelphia.

Robbed at the New Haven Railroad Depot. Thomas Rogers was yesterday arrested on the charge of having stolen a wallet containing $200, from Mrs. Ernestine Ittner, residing at No. 206 Grand-street. The money, it is alleged, was taken from the pocket of the lady just as she was leaving the cars at the New-Haven railroad depot at Twenty-seventh-street. The prisoner was taken before Justice Dodge at the Jefferson Market Police Court and committed without bail.

A Likeness of Mr. Greeley.—Mr. Ritchie has shown that he does not hesitate to give New-Yorkers an opportunity of practically testing his skill as an artist, by submitting to them a likeness of which nearly every citizen can judge. He has just added to the series of Union portraits which Messrs. Derby & Miller (No. 5 Spruce-street) are publishing, a spirited and highly-artistic engraving of Hon. Horace Greeley.

Thanksgiving.—A. T. Stewart, Esq., with his accustomed liberality, presented each of the married porters in his employ, at both establishments, with a fine Thanksgiving turkey. The number of employes is about a hundred, and that number of men with their families were made happy on the universal holiday.

THE PEACE ADDRESS.

The Correspondence between Secretary Seward and the Bearer of the Address.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26, 1864.

Hon. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, &c., &c.:

Hon. Sir: I beg to inform you that I have been deputed to convey to this country an address from the people of Great Britain and Ireland to the people of the United States of America. The address was presented to Gov. Seymour, for him to present through the proper channel. I was requested by him to convey it to the President of the United States, as the authorized channel of communication between the people of other nations and the people of the United States of America. May I, therefore, ask the honor of an opportunity for so doing? I am, Honorable Sir, yours, most obediently,

JOSEPH PARKER.

Department of State,
Washington, Nov. 26, 1864.

To Joseph Parker, Washington, D. C.:

Sir: Your letter of this date, stating that you are the bearer of an address from the people of Great Britain and Ireland to the people of the United States, has been received. Before answering the question which your letter contains, it is desirable to be further informed whether you have authority from the Government of Great Britain and Ireland for the purpose referred to, and whether your mission has been made known to the diplomatic agent of that Government accredited to the Government of the United States.

I am, Sir, your very obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

Metropolitan Hotel,
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26, 1864.

Hon. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, &c., &c.:

Hon. Sir: In reply to your letter of to-day, permit me to state that the address which I have the honor of being deputed by the parties signing it to bring to this country, and containing the signatures of some three hundred and fifty thousand of my countrymen—from the peer to the artisan—is not from the Government of Great Britain nor from any political party. It is simply an expression of the earnest desire of the masses of the people of Great Britain to see peace again restored to this continent. Waiting your favor, I am, Hon. Sir, yours, most obediently,

JOSEPH PARKER.

Department of State,
Washington, Nov. 26, 1864.

To Joseph Parker, Esq., Metropolitan Hotel:

Sir: The Government of the United States cannot receive the address which was mentioned in your notes of this morning. Your request for an interview with the President to present the address is therefore declined.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

AGRICULTURAL REPORT.

The Agricultural Department has just published the report of the Commissioners of Agriculture for the year 1863. Under a resolution of the last Congress, agreed to on the 4th of June last, by which 160,000 copies were ordered printed, this will give six hundred and fifty copies to each member. The report is very elaborate, constituting a volume of seven hundred pages, including reports, engravings and statistics. One of the most noticeable features of the work is Mr. Dodge's report upon the agricultural status and prospects of Western Virginia. By a comparative review of its resources with those of other States, he has succeeded admirably in conveying to the public mind a comprehensive and satisfactory account of the capabilities and resources of that new State. The report will be at once distributed by Representatives in Congress to their respective constituencies.

THE CASE OF THE FLORIDA.

There is the best authority for saying that all statements to the effect that differences of opinion have arisen in the Cabinet concerning the case of the pirate Florida, or that a decision has been made for or against her restitution, are without foundation. No action of the Government has been taken in the case, and no discussion of it has been held, and the Navy Department authorizes the following statement: The original order for the Wachusett, upon her arrival at Hampton Roads, was to proceed to Boston for repairs, taking with her the prisoners captured. Before the order reached the vessel, the prisoners had been sent to Point Lookout, and in a day or two were transferred by the army authorities to the Old Capitol. They were immediately ordered back to Point Lookout to be returned to the Wachusett, which at once sailed for Boston, arriving there on Friday last. The prisoners are doubtless ere this in Fort Warren.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

THE SCHELDT DUES.

The President has issued a proclamation that the treaty between the United States and the King of the Belgians for the extinguishment of the Scheldt dues has been duly satisfied on both sides; and another proclamation announcing this exchange of ratification of the convention between these same nations, completing by new stipulations the treaty of commerce and navigation of July, 1858. By these arrangements the United States, in view of the proposition made by Belgium to regulate by a common accord the capitalization of the Scheldt dues, consents to contribute to this capitalization, under certain conditions, an amount not exceeding 2,000,780 francs. The tariff of import duties resulting from the treaty of the 1st of May, 1861, between Belgium and France, is extended to goods imported from the United States, on the same conditions with which it was extended to Great Britain by the treaty of July 23, 1862. The reduction made by the treaties entered into with Switzerland Dec. 11, 1862, with Italy, April 9, 1863; with the Netherlands, May 12, 1863, and also with France, May 12, 1863, is to be equally applied to goods imported from the United States. It is agreed that Belgium should extend to the United States the reductions of import duties, which may result from her subsequent treaties with other Powers. In accordance with the ninth article of the treaty of July 17, 1858, the flag of the United States is to be assimilated to that of Belgium for the transportation of salt.

The United States Christian Commission.

Indianapolis, Tuesday, Nov. 29.

The Western branches and agencies of the United States Christian Commission are now assembled in Convention in this city. Representations are present from Wheeling, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Peoria, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Louisville, Nashville, Memphis, &c. Honorable William Storer, of Cincinnati, is Chairman, and G. H. McIlvaine, of Peoria, Secretary. Questions bearing on the extension and efficiency of the commission will come before the convention. The members are large-hearted and earnest men, urged by past success and pressing demands to prepare for the great work before them.

Rochester, N. Y., Tuesday, Nov. 29.

A district of the National Telegraphic Union was organized here to-night, and the following officers were elected: J. B. Crane, District Director; M. L. Townsend, Local Director; Ira C. Billows, District Secretary; and C. F. Smith, District Treasurer.

The New-Haven Railroad Disaster.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your paper of the 21st inst. you do me injustice. I therefore beg you will allow me to be put right. The article to which I refer is as follows:

"The New-Haven Railroad Disaster.—At an inquest into the New-Haven disaster on Saturday afternoon, John Gould, who is described as 'late a Railroad Commissioner of the State of Connecticut,' testified that he examined the road after the accident occurred, and found no defective ties or rails. Mr. Gould does well to put his testimony in the negative form. There were intelligent witnesses present when the accident occurred who saw very defective ties; ties, in fact, all but completely rotten. We doubt, moreover, whether Mr. Gould's notions of safe traveling will be generally accepted, when he tells us that he thinks forty miles an hour a safe rate on such a piece of road. Those who desire to exculpate the company and its servants in this matter would do well to speak with caution."

The above purports to be what I said relative to the Harlem road. My testimony was this: that I passed over that portion of the New-York and New-Haven Railroad which lies in Connecticut with the General Railroad Commissioners, and found the road in a good and safe condition; that the Connecticut commissioners had no jurisdiction after reaching the New-York line. It should be remembered that the accident happened upon the Harlem, and not upon the road owned by the New-York and New-Haven Company.

Being upon the train that met with the disaster, I was asked if I examined the rails or ties, and distinctly stated that I did not. Never having examined the Harlem Railroad, therefore being ignorant of the condition of the track, it would hardly be supposed that I should give an opinion, which I did not, that the point where the accident occurred was safe to run forty miles per hour. In regard to my wishing to exculpate the New-York and New-Haven road, or any other railroad company, is a great mistake. I am traveling often upon railroads, and desire to go safe; and think I shall, if all the roads are as well managed and kept in as good condition as that portion of the New-York and New-Haven road which is located in Connecticut, even should they run forty miles per hour.

JOHN GOULD.

Arrivals in the City.

The Councilmanic Committee from Boston, who visited this city last week, and proceeded to Philadelphia and Baltimore on Saturday last for the purpose of inspecting sundry improvements in the water department of the cities they visited, returned to the Fifth-avenue Hotel from Baltimore last evening, much pleased with the success attending their investigations. They will return to Boston in a day or two.

Maj.-Gen. Couch passed through this city yesterday morning, stopping at the Astor House for a few hours. He is en route to his new field of labors in the West.

Senator Buckalew, Pennsylvania; and Capt. Wm. E. Mapes, Florida, are at the Astor House.

Ex-Gov. Bigler, Pennsylvania; Hon. A. Vansantwood, Albany; and F. M. and James Harris, England, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

The Funeral of the Late Prof. Silliman.—The funeral of Prof. Benjamin Silliman, Sen., took place yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Centre Church in the presence of a large assemblage.

At 1 o'clock the remains of the deceased were borne to the entry of the church, attended by a procession of students. The coffin had placed upon it a green wreath and a cross of white flowers and green leaves. Here the remains were to be seen until the time for service, when they were placed before the altar. The exercises, which were of a most impressive nature, were conducted by President Woolsey, Rev. Dr. Bacon, Prof. Fitch and Rev. Mr. Clark. President Woolsey delivered the discourse. He said that as a better tribute would be hereafter paid to Prof. Silliman, by some one more able than himself, when there was leisure to collect the materials, he should only give a brief sketch of his life and services. Then he gave, in simple language, a deeply interesting sketch of the life of the deceased, as a professor of chemistry, as an officer of the college, and of his qualities as a Christian gentleman. The speaker was much affected during a part of his discourse, giving utterance to his words in a voice trembling with sorrowful emotion, causing many of his hearers to shed tears.

The choir for the occasion consisted of a number of students conducted by Prof. Stoeckel. Present in the audience were the faculty and officers of Yale College, the students of all the departments of college, the officers of the American Life Insurance Company, together with many of the venerable citizens of this city. After the conclusion of the exercises, at the church, the remains attended by the friends, the faculty and student of Yale College, and the officers of the American Life Insurance Company, was borne to the cemetery and interred.

A great sadness prevailed among all present, and marked the ceremonies of the occasion, seemingly in keeping with his quiet life and gentle departure from this earth.—New-Haven Journal, Nov. 29.

"Margin" Operations in Wall-street—Customs Thereof.

SUPREME COURT—SECOND DISTRICT.

Before Judge Lott.

George W. Morgan vs. Peyton & Jaudon.—This action was brought by the plaintiff against his stockbrokers to reclaim money held by them as margin, on the ground that the stock held and carried for him had been converted or misapplied. On the 18th of April, 1864, the defendant had $2,644 margin and 300 shares of stock as claimed. A panic set in on the 15th, and on the day before mentioned, as claimed, the defendants demanded more margin, and sold out the stock the next morning at a great loss. It rallied afterward, but not sufficiently to have made any profits to plaintiff if the sale had not been made.

The questions involved were: First, whether the notice of the 18th for the next day was seasonable and sufficient; second, whether there was any usage or custom enabling a broker to sell out stock so held without prior notice; third, whether, by the unauthorized sale of the 19th, the brokers did not release the customer from the purchase of the stocks and all charges connected therewith, and cut off any lien which they otherwise would have had upon the money held by them. All these questions were decided in favor of the plaintiffs, whose case follows in the wake of the pioneer case of this class, of Bross vs. White, formerly reported in the Times, and which changed somewhat the customs of Wall-street in these operations.

Verdict for plaintiff for $2,644.

Joseph Neilson for plaintiff; Garrets & Geoff for defendant.

Promissory Notes—Consideration—The Notorious Plin White Concerned.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Robertson, Monell and Garvin.

Thomas B. Oakley vs. Wm. S. Sears.—This was an action on a check for $12,000, drawn by defendant to the order of the plaintiff. The defence was to the effect that it was understood that the check was not to be paid until certain funds were deposited in defendants hands, by one Plin White, to meet it, the check, as claimed, having been drawn for his accommodation. The action was tried before and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff; but a new trial was granted upon the ground of newly discovered evidence, and in April last the second trial resulted also in favor of the plaintiff.

The case was appealed, the defence urging that, as between these parties the defence of want of consideration may be set up, and if established will be fatal to the action. It was also contended that there was error in the ruling of the Court and in the charge to the jury in many respects. The principal point of error in this respect raised, was that the Court instructed the Jury that the case turned upon the credibility or non-credibility of the defendant; that if they believed the defendant their verdict should be for him, otherwise for the plaintiff.

The defence took the view that there was no such question of credibility involved.

The Court now reversed the judgment and order, and granted a new trial.

C. E. Sears for appellant; Andrews, Colby and Thompson for respondent.

Criminal Business.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Judge Russell.

James McGregor was tried yesterday upon a charge of grand larceny. It appeared from the evidence that the prisoner was a soldier, and was staying at the Soldiers' Home in Howard-street. One of his comrades laid aside his blouse for a few minutes, the pockets of which contained $149 in greenbacks. McGregor picked it up and ran off with the money, but was discovered and pursued. The jury convicted the prisoner and he was sentenced to be confined in the State prison for two years.

Ellen Maria Johnson was tried for larceny. The prisoner was accused by a German of stealing from him a silver watch. It appeared, however, that the accused had previously preferred a charge of rape against both the witnesses for the prosecution in this case, and that there was no evidence whatever against her. She was acquitted on the spot.
